Rentable Ministers Cost Africa Millions

New Nigerian Regime Starts Fight Against Bribery, Corruption

By KENNETH L. WHITING
LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — The military regime has opened a campaign to rid Nigeria of corruption which wasted many millions in the five years since independence.

The campaign ranges from a crackdown on those who try to bribe traffic cops to a review of tariff rigged by crooked Cabinet ministers to protect their own business interests.

Shocking tales of official graft circulated before Prime Minister Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa was killed and his government overthrown last month. Foreign businessmen planning investments here found they had to accommodate Cabinet ministers and their friends with "dash" — bribes — jobs and special favors.

"You can't buy a Nigerian Cabinet minister," said one U.S. executive, "but you can rent them for the afternoon."

Real Estate
High government officials specialized in real estate deals. Some of the profits were cashed in numbered Swiss accounts. The military government reportedly is studying how this money might be recovered.

The former head of Nigeria's state-owned shipping company admitted last year that he built apartments with borrowed money and then leased the flats to the shipping line.

Reclaimed swampland in Lagos somehow fell into the hands of Cabinet members who sold it to the government although it was government property in the first place.

The purchase of airplanes for Nigeria Airways, cars and trucks for government use, medical supplies for hospitals, and textbooks for schools were tainted by questionable deals.

Customs Agents
Corruption was not limited to political figures. Tourists found that customs agents at the airport had a sliding scale of bribes to overlook dutiable articles.

Waiting lists for telephones and other services could be avoided by offering "dash." This lower-level grafting has not disappeared and likely will be harder to eliminate than big-time chicanery.

Finance Minister Chief Festus Okotie-Eboh was known as the "king of dash." Import duties on plastic footwear increased steeply after Okotie-Eboh built a factory to manufacture them in his home town.

Industrial Projects
The finance minister was killed in the revolt. Military sources say he died in characteristic fashion — trying to buy off his captors.

Many industrial projects, particularly those owned by the government and built with slick overseas financing, are unprofitable and inefficient. New industrial plants were located out of political considerations.

A cement factory had to be trucked across the Sahara to Sokoto in far northern Nigeria because that was the home of the northern region premier, Sir Ahmadu Bello. He too was killed in the rebellion.

A slaughterhouse was located in Bauchi — Balewa's home town — though the area does not produce enough cattle to keep it busy.

A cement mill was erected in Calabar by those in power because it was a stronghold of the opposition party. Those hired at the plant were checked for political orthodoxy.

"Latch Key"
"Latch key" contractors from Europe prospered. These wheel-dealers offered to build entire factories for the government and turn over the key with little regard for whether the project

Speaks From Experience

Dieting's Even Worse Than Falling in Love

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — What is worse than falling in love?

Going on a diet.

A person in love is usually only a nuisance to himself — or perhaps to one other person, his beloved. But anyone on a diet is a nuisance to nearly everyone.

That's why all the world may love a lover, but no one in history has ever been stirred to build a monument to a dieter.

Food is all he can think about or talk about. Instead of greeting you with "What's new?" he asks: "What did you have for breakfast this morning?"

They say misery loves company, and many think dieters should be isolated from the rest of humanity during their ordeal — perhaps to a lonely mountain top or a desert.

Abnormal Ones
But since at any given time about a fourth of all Americans over 30 are dieting, or pretending to be, this idea is impractical. It might be simpler to exile steeply after Okotie-Eboh built a factory to manufacture them in his home town.

Industrial Projects
The finance minister was killed in the revolt. Military sources say he died in characteristic fashion — trying to buy off his captors.

Many industrial projects, particularly those owned by the

was viable. No down payments, "easy terms" and considerable "dash" made their offers appear irresistible.

One economist estimated the government has squandered $69 million since Nigeria became independent Oct. 1, 1960.

The military governor, Maj. Gen. J.T.U. Aguiyi-Ironsi, has promised to stamp out corruption, punish those responsible, and overhaul the nation's economic planning. More than 20 officials including one Cabinet minister have been detained under suspicion of "certain criminal offenses."

One of the army's first acts was to oust all ministers and politically appointed boards of directors of state-owned corporations.

The civil service is in charge. They are mostly able professionals and regarded as honest. Foreign businessmen report the economic climate has vastly improved.

Wide-ranging investigations are expected if only to demonstrate that the army means business. A single budget is planned. In the old days, the four regions and the federal government drew up separate budgets.

New industries are to be situated where they will operate best and not to satisfy tribal or regional rivalry.

sure to inquire how much I lost last week.

"Six and one-eighth ounces," I reply.

"Well, I lost 3½ pounds," he chortles. "You want to know how I did it?"

"No."

"Well, I did it by having nothing but pomegranate juice and raw sauerkraut. Why don't you try it?"

Radishes, Fried Squash
Each guy has a different success story, an easy remedy. One melts his avoirdupois off by eating nothing but radishes and fried squash. Another does it with goat cheese and broiled duck eggs. Still another thins down with a mixture of mineral oil and mashed mangoes.

What quickly thaws fat off one man may just as well pile it on the next one.

There is a scientific theory that eating food high in calories is what tends to make you chubby. But this is only partly true.

As a veteran of scores of diets, I think there are only two general rules that are really helpful in trying to slim down:

1. Never eat at all when hungry.

2. When not hungry, eat only foods you genuinely despise.

If this program doesn't work, you might as well relax and enjoy your fat.

Lawrence Professor's Views

Imposition of Western Standards Hurts African Nations' Stability

Africa's difficulties in achieving stability are compounded by its old tribal structure and over-emphasis on communal change, and by too great an imposition of Western standards, in the view of Dr. Harold K. Schneider, Lawrence University associate professor of anthropology. He expressed the ideas Thursday at a Great Decisions foreign policy luncheon on the Lawrence campus.

Dr. Schneider, whose field research interests have been centered in Africa, pointed to the "elite leadership" in most African states as an irritant contributing to unrest.

He noted that attempts at stability have been made largely within the framework of the strengths of a particular tribe, or by installing "black Europeans" — native Africans whose educational experience was gained largely in Europe — as leaders.

Western Thought
These elite groups tend to reflect the Western thought that influenced their education, and wish to westernize further because "that's where the power is," Schneider said.

He cited Ghana, which in 1957 tried to base its government on the British parliamentary system, but failed, and has now

Interest Groups Back Bureau for Licensing Of Crafts, Businesses

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Legislators and others who have been pressing on a central state bureau to handle the routine clerical and accounting work involved in the licensing of crafts, trades, businesses and professions are now hopeful about achieving their goal.

One report has it that all of the special interest groups concerned appear willing to support such a move to save money for themselves.

Under the plan there would be separate and independent testing and qualification procedures. But there would be a central service bureau. The idea has been promoted by state administrative reform specialists for at least a decade.

proposal in the Congress for the establishment of a third Wisconsin federal court, with headquarters in Milwaukee.

But with an appreciation of the overwhelming domination of the national government by Democrats, Gordon is now working wholly through Democratic partisan friends. He has already won the backing of the Milwaukee county Democratic committee, in a formal vote.

There is a movement in Milwaukee, supported by some local Republicans, for the selection of a Negro for the bench there if additional appointments in Milwaukee County fall to Gov. Knowles in the spring.

The appointment possibility results from the fact that two lower court judges are running for the circuit court. If successful, the governor will be empowered to fill the vacancies in the judgeships they now hold.

The Wisconsin Motor Carriers Association is often described by rivals and critics as one of the state's more formidable lobbies. Yet, on the record, it has its difficulties in persuading the legislature to its point of view.

Evidently feeling that it has not marshalled its potential resources most effectively thus far, the Association is urging truckers and trucking company employees to pay more heed to public opinion and to improve the "image" of the industry which is one of the state's most important, now enrolling at least 150,000 members of the Wisconsin labor force.

One reason may be, according to statehouse speculation, that legislators like to help their constituents in applying for such special numbers, and the act may not look like a favor if there is an additional price tag attached.

It is not yet certain that there will be a surplus above budget requirements when the next statement on the condition of state finances is published in about six weeks. But there is a fair chance that there will be a modest one — although not enough to warrant any serious proposal to cut back state taxation.

Nor is it likely that the surplus, of whatever size, will be retained for use in financing the next state budget and in reducing the next round of tax increases that loom for the next biennium. There might be a chance to "save" the surplus under normal legislative calendar arrangements. But the law-makers will return to their seats in May, and almost surely will grasp the chance to increase

Kentucky Seeks Discrimination Law for Men

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The state administration is pushing a bill to bar employers from discriminating against men.

Kentucky's minimum wage law covers only women and minors, mainly employees of restaurants and hotels. "If we're not permitted to discriminate," Labor Commissioner Carl Cabe said, "then we can't have a law only for women."

The U.S. Civil Rights Act of 1964 prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex or race. A union spokesman said "tens of thousands" of men would get pay raises if the Kentucky bill were passed.

state spending. The most likely purpose: higher state aids to local schools, which to the rank and file legislator of both parties continues to be the best vote-getting expenditure program with which he can be identified.

Asthma Formula Prescribed Most By Doctors—Available Now Without Prescription

Stops Attacks in Minutes... Relief Lasts for Hours!

New York, N.Y. (Special)—The asthma formula prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients is now available to asthma sufferers without prescription.

Medical tests proved this formula stops asthma attacks in minutes and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful asthma spasms.

This formula is so effective that it is the physicians' leading asthma prescription—so safe when used as directed that now it can be sold—without prescription in most states—in tiny tablets called Primatene. These Primatene Tablets open bronchial tubes, loosen congestion, relieve taut nervous tension. All without painful injections.

The secret is—Primatene combines 3 medicines (in full prescription strength) found most effective in combination for asthma distress.

So look forward to sleep at night, and freedom from asthma spasms.

One of the curious psychological characteristics of the times is the desire of hundreds of persons for conspicuously distinctive numbers on their motor vehicle registration plates — and especially low numbers. One of the curious characteristics of the legislature, as far as registration officials are concerned, is the reluctance of law-makers to endorse their suggestion for a special fee for such special number consideration in

High School Students in Party Mood Saturday

Saturday was party night for students at St. John High School, Little Chute, and Kimberly High School.

At St. John, the Student Council sponsored a "Wonderland by Night" winter formal from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. in the patio foyer of the school. Planned under the direction of Sister Melanie, the Art Club had charge of party decorations. Miss Vickie Lamers was refreshment chairman and Kathy Schultz and Karen Van Thiel took care of publicity. Ronald Jensen was general chairman.

The Kimberly High School event was a girl-ask-boy party, with "Sweetheart Tree" as the theme. Miss Mary Kay Eiting was chairman. Miss Frances Kasten was the faculty advisor working with the student committee.

Miss Loretta Roth was maid of honor for her sister. Also attending the bride were Miss Diane Guralski, bridesmaid; Misses Jean Huebner and Juliana Schwalen, junior bridesmaids, and Teena Kettner, flower girl.

The bridegroom's brother, Fred Huebner, Neenah, was best man. Tobias A. Roth served as groomsmen. Ushers were David Huebner, Michael Huebner, Richard Sahli and Michael Jahnlund. Peter Veach was ring bearer.

A reception was held at 41 Bowl, Appleton.

After a honeymoon in the southwestern United States, Mr. Huebner and his bride will live in the Los Angeles area. The bridegroom, a Navy airman, is stationed at Point Mugu, Calif. His wife was employed at Twin City Savings and Loan Association, Neenah.

Sweet Adelines Sparkle for Small Show Audience Saturday

BY PAT DUFFEY

(Post-Crescent Staff Writer)

"The Big Four" returned to the Fox Cities Saturday night and stirred an entertaining recipe of harmony and mirth to an appreciative, but disappointingly small, audience at the annual show of the Kimberlares Chapter of the Sweet Adelines.

The "Queens of Harmony," who played the Fox Cities about a decade ago, showed no loss of harmonizing quality despite the new, slim-line look at tenor.

"The Big Four," Illinois size answer to Wisconsin's Schmitt this year, again turned in a Brothers, showed championship style in "Lida Rose." "Mr. Sandman," and their old traditional, "A Good Man Is Hard to Find."

The Kimberlares Chorus III., proved a popular quartet on Appleton Senior High Saturday showed their finest in "You'll Never Walk Alone," which they neighboring state has always the sponsoring Kimberlares.

The Ailing House Footing Is Better Than Steel Posts

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: Can I just move a center beam post four feet along the beam to make room for a basement pool table? Or should I chop a hole in the concrete, dig down two feet and pour a concrete footer? The present post has this type of footer.

A: It is safer to put in the footer. But if you spread the supporting job between two adjustable steel posts, each resting on half-inch steel plates about 18 inches square, this would probably bypass the need for a footer.

The art exhibit will include the work of priests and nuns, as well as seminarians from St. Francis Seminary near Milwaukee. Among the paintings will be a showing of the art of religious vestments, presented by the Rev. Dean Merrick. As a tribute to the season, flowers will be sold at the program. Plans are underway to award several art pieces as prizes.

Your Problems

Ann's Daughter Pulls Switch; Writes Advice to Her Mother

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR MOTHER: I have never written you a letter before because in the years when I've wanted advice, you were in the next room. I am writing for advice today, however. I am writing to tell you that you goofed. And in an area I know something about Sitters.

You told a young mother, whose good friend helped her out of a tough spot by generously offering the name of her prize sitter, that it was OK to call that sitter for future sitting dates. You said it wasn't necessary to check first with her benefactor to learn if she needed the sitter herself on that particular night.

Sorry, Mother, but it's the

Tell Troth of Miss Busse, Thomas Pahl

KAUKAUNA—Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Busse, 106 E. Tobacnour St., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Betty, to Thomas A. Pahl. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pahl Sr., 220 E. Ninth St.

Miss Busse is employed at Aid Association for Lutherans, Appleton. Her fiancé is in the Army, stationed at Fort Riley, Kansas.

unwritten law of jungle that a sitter provided by a friend in an emergency is not fair game. The woman who booked the emergency sitter for three straight Saturdays dealt her benefactor a low blow. I'm shocked that you condone such tactics.

It's a good thing you no longer need sitters, Mother, because if this is your idea of justice I would not pass on to you the names of my sitters — Your Daughter Margo.

Dear Margo: It's bad enough when strangers clobber me, but to be hauled up short by my own daughter? Oh, sharper than a serpent's tooth.

Your talk about the jungle makes me shudder. I thought I brought you up in a home. But then maybe the world has changed since I was a young mother and needed sitters.

Perhaps I should have added this thought: If the benefactor makes it plain that the sitter is "just for this once," the befriended mother should, of course, not try to engage her for future dates. If no such stipulation is made, I say a sitter should not be considered private property. Maybe I should encourage you to gloat onto sitters in any way you can, because if you ever get stuck, kiddo, I know who's going to be drafted. Your father!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a man 49 years of age. I work in a machine shop with 12 other employees, ranging in age up to 71.

Dear Port: The old buzzard may well be telling the truth. Who knows how active he was at 27?

My medical consultants agree that sexual appetites do decrease in both males and females as time marches on. There is wide variation, however, according to the individual. Some buzzards (and buzzardettes) in their 70's are more active sexually than some 20-year-olds. And believe it or not, the psychological factor is more of a determinant than the physical.

If you have trouble getting along with your parents... if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged by Parents? How to Get More Freedom." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Give Up Trick to Top Contract

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD
Behind every successful bridge player there stands a woman — making faces every time he plays a card. And you should have seen the faces at the second trick in the hand shown today.

More by luck than by good management West hit on the opening lead of the ace of clubs. When West saw the dummy he realized that the contract was surely unbeatable unless South was void of hearts.

Even in that case, the only hope was to get two or three diamond tricks — which could not be obtained if South could ruff a diamond in dummy. Since there was only one way to defeat the contract, West took a deep breath and led the nine of trumps. That's the play that started the face-making.

South won with the ten of spades and returned the king of diamonds. West carefully refused the trick and won the next diamond with the nine. He returned the king of spades, removing the last trump from the dummy. South had to give up two more diamond tricks and was down one.

Only Lead
Any lead but a trump at the second trick would give South time to ruff a diamond in dummy. Then he could discard a diamond on a top heart, thus easily making the contract.

It was equally important for West to refuse the first diamond trick. If he took the ace of diamonds at once and returned a trump, South would win and lead out all of the trumps.

West would have to save three diamonds and a club, whereupon South would cash the queen of clubs and lead the low diamond. West could step up with the nine of diamonds, but would then have to give South the last two tricks by leading up to the queen-ten of diamonds.

Neglected Disease Comes Under Medical Scrutiny

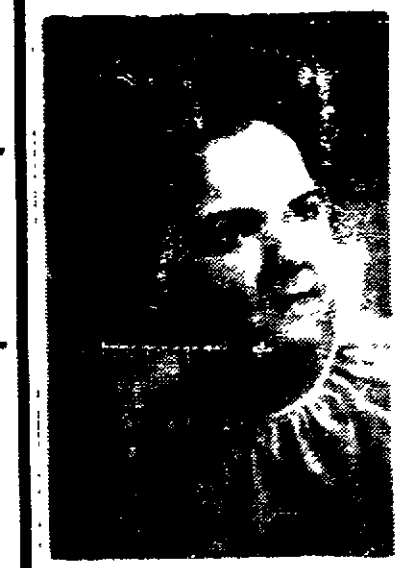

Emphysema, the lung condition once described as "our son, most neglected disease," is being coming a major subject of medical research. And for good reason, it is second only to heart disease as a cause of disability and is "the fastest growing crippling disease in the U. S. today," according to the U. S. Public Health Service.

Burdens Heart
In emphysema, the walls of the millions of tiny air sacs of the lung—the alveoli—become stretched with "trapped" air the patient cannot expel. In time, the strained walls of the alveoli become weak and the air flow in and out of the lungs is obstructed. This presents an increased burden to the heart which must pump blood through the damaged lung.

Main Symptom
The chief symptom is shortness of breath. Breathing often becomes more difficult when the patient is under strain. Acute respiratory infections aggravate this shortness of breath. However, Dr. Theodore H. Noehren of Buffalo, N. Y., an authority on the subject, offers this note of encouragement: "When approached with modern knowledge and perspective, the disease can be handled very well. Almost every patient with emphysema can be helped, even though a 'cure' is not likely."

Wife Found Dead in Bed By Husband

Mrs. Robert Chapelle, 41, Appleton, Told Of Being Cold

Mrs. Robert Chapelle, 41, 826 1/2 E. North St., was found dead in her bed about 11 a.m. Sunday.

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps, who investigated along with Appleton police, said a pathological examination by Dr. Pearse Meighan indicated pulmonary embolism as the tentative cause of death.

A final ruling will be made when laboratory and microscopic analyses are completed, Kemps said.

Mrs. Chapelle's husband told authorities he last saw his wife alive about 6:45 a.m. Sunday when she complained of being cold. He said he turned up an electric blanket and added covers on her bed.

After checking on her several times, he found her dead about 11 a.m., authorities explained. Kemps said death occurred about 10 a.m.

The Appleton Fire Department rescue squad was called and firemen administered oxygen until Mrs. Chapelle was pronounced dead.

The body was released to the Wichmann Funeral Home.

Illinois Seeks Return of Suspect For Murder Trial

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — State's Atty. William Nash is planning to fly to San Diego, Calif., in an effort to return a former Rockford landscaper for trial, he said Sunday.

The landscaper, Russell Charles Dewey, 25, is charged with murder in the death of 11-year-old Susan Brady of Rockford.

Dewey's attorney, Morris Sanary, obtained a 10-day delay for a habeas corpus hearing last week, contending that Dewey could not receive a fair trial in Illinois because of public opinion.

Susan disappeared on the evening of Dec. 20 as she walked home from a girlfriend's home. One month later, FBI agents found the charred bones and teeth of a little girl in an incinerator at the home of Dewey's grandparents outside Rockford.

Dewey was arrested at his mother's house in San Diego Feb. 13.

Social Security Office to be Open As Usual Tuesday

Because of the volume of work created by the Medicare program and the need for persons over age 65 to enroll for physicians' services, portion of Medicare by March 31, 1966, the Appleton Social Security office will remain open to the public all day Tuesday, Feb. 22 is normally a federal holiday and offices are closed in observance of George Washington's birthday. This year is an exception for the Social Security office and business as usual will be conducted according to Frank M. Donnick, district manager. However, the post office will be closed with no carrier delivery or window service.

Hospital service under Medicare is automatic for those who apply for Social Security benefit payments. Physicians' services are not automatic. This portion of the health insurance is voluntary and there is a $3 per month fee involved beginning July, 1966. In order to have the physicians coverage beginning July, 1966, all persons who are already age 65 must enroll with the Social Security office before the end of March, 1966. If they do not do so, they will not have another opportunity until October, 1967 and in that case the coverage does not begin until July, 1968. The enrollment action must be taken within these next six weeks or the already age 65-year-old person will lose out on two years of health insurance coverage, according to Donnick.

There are other special rules for those age 65 and not eligible for Social Security. Donnick has urged that persons 65 years old check with the nearest Social Security office immediately as to whether cash benefits or health services may be available.

Disqualification of Shawano, County Candidates Unlikely

SHAWANO — It is unlikely that any candidates for office in the spring election in Shawano County will be disqualified because of alleged errors on their nomination papers, Dist. Atty. Lloyd Andrews said today.

A weekly newspaper, the Shawano County Observer, reported last week that "an inspection of nomination papers for the spring election for city and county offices by the editor of the Shawano County Observer revealed many, many discrepancies."

The article also said that the alleged discrepancies had been pointed out to Andrews who is both Shawano County and city attorney.

Chance Remark Andrews said the only thing he knew about it was a chance remark made to him at lunch, what he had seen in the article and a nomination paper he had seen in the county clerk's office on which a candidate had forgotten to put his name in one blank, but that everything else was in order.

County Clerk Neil Druckery said, "After all, we're dealing with people, not machines. You'll find no perfection in people. Mistakes will be made."

The alleged errors had to do largely with omissions on the forms, such as failing to fill in blanks listing occupation and charges that notaries failed to administer an oath to persons filling out the papers.

Druckery said, "It's up to the filing officer to determine if there is fraud or not. There certainly isn't here. One woman who signed her husband's nomination papers had power of attorney to do so in his absence."

Signed Opponent's Papers "One candidate for an office signed as a supporter of his opponent. I don't know if he thought it was a joke, but you can't disqualify him for that, can you?"

Druckery continued, "In the instance where a man didn't fill in the blank listing his occupation, he circulated papers only in his district where virtually everyone knows him and knows what he does for a living. I don't think that's fraudulent, either.

Issue to be Revived

Office Space Sought For City Attorney, New Personnel Director

A search for new office space at the Appleton City Hall — discontinued last year when it encountered opposition from a few department heads — will be resumed this week in earnest.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell disclosed today he will ask the board of public works Tuesday to provide suitable office space and facilities for a personnel director and full-time city attorney.

Union Official To Address Engineers

Secretary-Treasurer Of Steel Workers To Discuss Goals

Walter J. Burke, international secretary-treasurer of the United Steel Workers of America, will be the principal speaker at the "Labor Nite" program of the Northeastern Wisconsin

Jerome Rusch, a native of Menasha and presently employed by a Manitowoc industry, received the personnel appointment last week and should be on the job by April 1. However, there is no office available for him now.

Full-Time Legal Counsel
The same situation applies to the new city attorney who will be elected in April and take office May 1. The job has been part-time up to now with no office facilities available for the city's legal counsel at the city hall building.

"We are going to have to provide the necessary space and facilities for both of these offices now before the men get on the job," Mitchell said.

He indicated the board of public works could take the action to create new office facilities, or appoint a subcommittee to proceed with the project.

Recommended Last Year
It was recalled that a year ago the board made an inspection of the city hall and arrived at the conclusion that additional offices could be constructed on the south side of the first floor between the rooms occupied by the city clerk and treasurer.

However, the clerk reportedly balked at any idea of taking some of his office space which he indicated was needed for machines and record storage purposes.

At the time, city officials were considering the establishment of a central machine room for use by all offices in the building. The plan was dropped but may be revived now that officials are seeking space for additional offices.

Trucker From Kaukauna Hurt In Iowa Crash

Donald Banek, 31, 108 E. Division St., Kaukauna, was reported in good condition today in a Dubuque, Iowa, hospital where he is being treated for injuries suffered in a car-truck collision early Saturday night.

Banek was the driver of a truck which was hit head-on by a car on U.S. 20 near Dubuque at 1:55 a.m. Saturday, Iowa officials said.

According to police, the car with the two youths went out of control on a curve and skidded head-on into the eastbound truck.

The two youths who were killed were from Dyersville, which is one mile from where the mishap occurred.

Contract Signing for Design of New Ramp May Be Delayed

Appleton Officials Learn 2 Firms Involved in Proposed Project

There was question today whether city officials would proceed with the signing of a contract with a Detroit firm hired by the Appleton council to design the Soldiers Square parking ramp.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell said he hoped any problems would be cleared up by the end of the week and hinted of possibly calling a special council meeting.

Richard C. Rich and Associates was the firm the council agreed to hire at its meeting last week. However, the Detroit firm is also tied to another planning and supervising construction of parking structures.

Contract Reviewed
This was brought out in the standard form contract Rich sent to the city over the weekend. It was reviewed today by Mitchell, City Atty. Frederick E. Froehlich, Planner-Engineer Walter Rasmussen and Public Works Director Robert W. Bues.

The problem envisioned by the officials authorized to enter into an agreement with Rich was that the ENCO firm is also a party to the contract.

For all practical purposes, the Rich and ENCO firms consider themselves one, sharing the same offices and personnel in their Detroit headquarters.

Rich does the consulting for the parking structures while ENCO furnishes the architects and engineers to prepare detailed construction plans.

Agent for Both Firms
Rich is the authorized agent for both firms, it was disclosed.

The quartet of city officials had a long distance telephone conversation with Rich and he said officers of both his corporations would sign the contract as requested. He indicated it was not a problem and had been handled in a similar manner on other occasions.

"There is no question of misrepresentation at all," Froehlich said. "It's just a matter of the city signing the contracts with the people with whom it will be doing business."

Rich was requested to air mail a revised contract to Appleton overnight so it can be reviewed when the board of public works meets here Tuesday afternoon.

"We will know better after tomorrow if another meeting of the council will be necessary to act on this contract," Mitchell said.

Mitchell said, while the city wanted no delays in getting the parking ramp project underway, it didn't want unforeseen problems, either.

Unemployment Compensation Bill Attacked by Small Business Unit

The purpose of unemployment compensation has been twisted so much in recent years it is now regarded as just one more welfare program, Eugene B. Brownell, president of the Kurz & Root Co., Inc., said today.

"The administration's unemployment compensation bill, now before Congress, would double the unemployment tax levied on Wisconsin companies — large or small — and would add to an already heavy burden on the individual Wisconsin taxpayer," Brownell said.

Brownell was commenting on a recent opinion survey conducted by the National Small Business Association, Washington, D. C., of which he is vice president.

"When the unemployment compensation program was established in the '30's, payments were intended only for persons able and willing to work but who lost their jobs through no fault of their own. Now there is this bill in Congress, H. R. 8282, that calls for 52 weeks of payments to persons who quit their job voluntarily without cause or who are fired for wilful misconduct on the job," Brownell said.

Opinion Survey
Brownell said the recent opinion survey of the National Small Business Association showed overwhelming opposition by the small business community to the federal unemployment compensation bill being backed in Congress by both the administration and labor organizations.

"Particularly objectionable to the small business man are the provisions in the bill that would destroy the experience rating system and establish federal standards as to eligibility and amount of payments," he stated. "The experience rating system used in most states is sound because it gives an employer incentive to stabilize his employment by lowering his unemployment compensation tax."

Polls Consistent
The results of the National Small Business Association Survey are consistent with polls taken by other organizations, and the Appleton businessman said. He pointed out that a recent Gallup Poll showed 73 per cent of American adults believing that many people collect unemployment compensation even though they can get work.

Brownell noted the Gallup Poll showed 69 per cent of American adults favoring stricter rules to prevent abuse of the unemployment compensation program.

"It would seem that President Johnson, who is a great believer in polls, has been misled in his support of the federal unemployment compensation bill," Brownell said.

"State unemployment compensation programs have proved their workability and fairness over a period of 30 years," Brownell declared, "and it is important that all citizens, including the business community, let Congress know that federal intrusion in this area is both unnecessary and unwarranted."

The business representative's projects in excess of $2,500 when one trade is involved and $25,000 where more than one is involved.

New State Law
"In part, the new law requires municipalities to apply to the State Industrial Commission to ascertain the prevailing wage rates in all trades required on any project," Parker wrote.

"The municipality is required by law to establish wage rates for these projects and contractors are required by law to pay the rates established," Parker added.

Parker said the information was being called to the attention of city and county officials because his union intends to start legal action to compel compliance with the law.

He warned that if necessary, the union would seek to enjoin the construction of projects which are not bid in accordance with the terms of the state law and prevailing wage structure.

Ecumenicism Discussed At Interfaith Dialogue

Ecumenicism was stressed at the revelation of God and the continuation of the interfaith dialogue before 300 persons at the First Methodist Church Sunday evening.

A panel, comprised of Rev. Marvin Schilling, host pastor, Rev. I. B. Kindem, pastor of individual differences will distinguish Evangelical Lutheran Church, and Rev. John DeWayne, assistant pastor of St. Mary Church, Menasha, agreed that unity has become "more realistic" in the past 10 years.

The speakers noted the misadventure in the ecumenicism field has pioneered in ecumenicism.

Father DeWayne said this was partly due to the fact that Catholics were going back to the Bible. He said that as people become more Christ-like, individual differences will disappear.

Rev. Mr. Schilling stated that ecumenicism means oneness, not sameness, that it means unity, not uniformity.

The speakers noted the misadventure in the ecumenicism field has pioneered in ecumenicism.

Three persons were injured in separate accidents Sunday on Appleton streets.

Wisconsin Avenue near Story Street and collided with a car driven by Alvin B. Thues, 22, Milwaukee. Orstein told police he must have fallen asleep at the wheel. Orstein was taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital for examination.

Appleton to Offer Class Counseling

Program Stems From New System; Changes Difficult

A program to assist students and parents in understanding the Appleton High School academic program will take place at the school in the next few weeks. During this period, ninth graders, sophomores and juniors will be selecting their classes and schedules for next year.

It was emphasized that it will be very difficult under the new system to make any changes in a student's program after the scheduling is completed.

Two Teams

Two teams of counselors from the school will be working with junior high counselors for the ninth graders. They are Donald Taylor, Mrs. Norma Winsor, Stanley Ore, vice principal, and Armin Gerhardt in the first team and Principal Orlyn A. Zieman, Justin H. Standiford, Miss Anabelle Wolfe and James Finical in the second team.

The work will begin Thursday at Wilson and James Madison Junior High schools. An explanation will be given to all the students in the morning and a 7:30 p.m. session will be held for the parents. The program, including the methods of scheduling, course content and conditions at school will be explained.

The following day, the two teams will again meet and talk to each of the students, assisting them with their schedules. The teams will work at Einstein and Roosevelt Junior High schools on March 1 and 2 and the same procedure will be followed. Parents night will be March 1.

Different Schedule

A slightly different schedule has been designated for Appleton High sophomores and juniors. On March 1, the students will receive a brief description of courses, a letter to parents, and a copy of the program selection sheet.

The students will take the

Tayco Bridge Construction To be Started

MENASHA — Twin City motorists heading north into Menasha can expect to run into a dead-end on the Tayco Street Bridge this week, Director of Public Works Robert Poss said today.

Construction on the redecking of the bridge may start as early as Wednesday, he said. The contractor, Wunderlich Bros. Construction Co., Appleton, will first build scaffolding and an enclosure over one lane of the bridge, Poss said.

The $87,700 project is expected to be completed in six weeks. A southbound lane will be kept open during the repairs, while northbound traffic will have to use the Racine Street Bridge. Unless traffic congestion mounts on the Main Street end of the bridge, the left turn off the bridge onto Main will be continued.

Originally the plan had been to close down both lanes to allow faster completion of the repairs. But the contract was altered after Tayco Street Businessmen and the Menasha police and fire chiefs asked that one lane be kept open.

UW Center Experiment Up in Smoke

MENASHA — A science experiment went awry at the Fox Valley University of Wisconsin Center Sunday night and ended up in a small fire.

The Town of Menasha volunteer fire department was called to the center about 7:45 p.m. because the building was filling with smoke.

When they arrived, Chief Harold Aykens said, smoke was coming out of the air conditioning ducts all over the building. It took ten minutes to find the fire, he said.

It was in the science laboratory where newspaper wrapped around several test tubes had caught on fire. The tubes were inside a heating stat was stuck, causing the device on which the thermometer to rise and ignite the paper.

Market Slides Despite Gains

Kennecott Jumps By 10 Points; Trading Is Active

NEW YORK (AP)—A 10-point jump by Kennecott failed to inspire a sliding stock market early this afternoon. Trading was active.

The list headed lower on balance, continuing last week's trend.

Kennecott was halted temporarily in trading as the stock ran up 10 1/4 to 142. Further response to the 3-for-1 stock split proposed by the No. 1 copper producer was cited for the rise, as well as strength in copper futures.

Anacoda came along with a 2-point spurt but other coppers were mixed. Some of the weightiest blue chips backed away, however, including some of the biggest chemicals, all Big Three mo-

A feeling of uncertainty permeated Wall Street not only because of the Viet Nam debate which was heightened by the statements of Sen. Robert M. Kennedy (D-NY) but also because of the widening spread between bond and stock yields.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. Trading was heavy. Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

Parent Teacher Group Aid Vaccine Program

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Your article on measles helped our Parent Teacher Association establish a program for vaccine for our children. I believe measles can be wiped out in a matter of five years if the public will get aroused as it did about polio. Our county health officer said his organization couldn't sponsor the vaccinations, but gave the PTA permission to go ahead.

if we could get funds to finance them. We lined up doctors to give the shots and a pharmaceutical laboratory helped us get the vaccine. We are a little school in a very poor area, but if other communities knew what we are doing, maybe they would establish a program to save children from death, blindness, deafness or other troubles from this so-called "harmless" disease. If you have more information concerning measles, I would appreciate hearing about it.—Mrs. F. G.

I feel reasonably hopeful that the time will come when all children will have measles vaccination as babies and won't have to wait for PTA or other groups to organize a program like this. However, measles vaccine hadn't been developed when most of today's school children were babies. The ideal way for vaccine to be given is by the pediatrician or the family doctor, as part of the process of bringing up a healthy child. But measles vaccine is still quite new, and more power to PTA groups that catch up with the situation. The important thing is that children get the advantages of what modern science has created—in this instance protection against measles.

For measles, a very common disease in childhood, may not be the only one to show a decline in do much harm most of the time but some of the time it kills the children, and more often than that it damages eyes, heart or other organs. It kills or cripples as many children, and probably more, than polio ever did.

If PTA groups can increase measles protection, with the help of cooperative doctors and pharmaceutical firms, more power to all of them. A few years from now, measles protection will be as routine for babies as smallpox, whooping cough and diphtheria inoculations. Right now there's some catching up to do.

Dear Dr. Molner: I would like to get rid of some weight on my hips and stomach and wonder if I can use the electric sander we have that is a vibrating type. I put a soft cloth around it and it really massages and makes the skin red. Do you think such massage could injure me in any way?—Mrs. C. K.

I doubt if it will hurt you, unless the cloth slips and you scratch yourself. But neither do I think that you can pat off or rub off weight, whether with your ingenious sander or other sort of massage, with or without mechanical devices, salons or anything else.

If massage could do it, movie stars wouldn't go on diets or struggle through exercises. Massage won't do it for them

Job Accidents Kill 14,100 During 1965

CHICAGO (AP) — Workers killed in accidents on the job totaled 14,100 in 1965, the National Safety Council said Friday. This was 100 fewer than in 1964.

Disabling injuries, however, rose to 2,100,000 from 2,050,000 the preceding year.

The council placed the cost of work accidents to the United States economy at $6 billion. This consisted of lost wages, medical expenses, overhead costs of insurance, interrupted production schedules, time lost by workers other than those injured and losses from work-associated fires.

The council places accidents into four categories, work, traffic, home and public. Work was the only one to show a decline in both total number of deaths and the total death rate. The death rate for all work accidents dropped by 1 per cent during 1965 to 7.3 deaths per 100,000 population.

The 1965 work accident death toll broke down thus: trade 1,200; manufacturing 1,800; transportation and public utilities 1,700; mining, quarrying and oil gas wells 700; service and government 3,000; agriculture 3,000 and construction 2,700.

and it won't for you. Better do it the hard way: Get rid of some pounds by dieting, and firm up the muscles with exercise.

Note to Mrs. E.J.: Nobody "outgrows" diabetes. When a child develops it, the important things is to control the condition. Such a child may live as long as anyone else if the disease is controlled.

Viet Cong Supplies Being Stopped by Action of Allies

Rice Saving Operation of U. S., Korean, Vietnamese Successful

By JOHN WHEELER
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Big U. S. and Allied military operations are beginning to crimp the Viet Cong supply system for the first time. The most notable success came during Operation Van Bu-

Endorsement of Brown Starts California Feud

Protestors Leave in Huff Over Ousting Of Democratic Chief

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown survived a walkout of angry delegates and won the California Democratic Council's endorsement, but his victory left scars of intraparty conflict.

Hard feelings, touched off by debate over the Viet Nam war, were evident Sunday as about 200 delegates left the hall when Brown asked the convention of the nation's largest volunteer political group to back his bid for a third term.

The protesters, a minority of the 1,860 present, were objecting to the Democratic governor's support of a successful move to force the resignation of council president Simon Casady, a critic of the Johnson administration's Viet Nam policy.

Most delegates remained, and their cheers of "We want Brown" echoed through the convention hall.

Brown won their support, but got only 874 votes. Dr. Carleton Goodlett, a San Francisco newspaper publisher who hasn't even declared his candidacy, received 289 votes. Officials said 630 delegates abstained.

The battle showed the unpopularity of the 14-year-old Democratic Party, with a membership of more than 30,000. After denying Casady a vote of confidence Saturday, members replaced him with a San Francisco attorney, Gerald Hill, who favors negotiations in Viet Nam with the Viet Cong.

National Liberation Front (united United Nations auspices). The convention shouted approval of a policy statement favoring such talks.

Casady's foes didn't object to his antiwar stand, but denounced him for "making vituperative attacks on the people with whom he disagrees," including President Johnson.

After an early flush of prosperity, which eased off before midnight, strip joint barker watched glumly as the late crowd surged back and forth — with bottles, beers or glasses in hand but spending relatively little cash.

"They get a 40-cent beer and walk up and down the street and run their mouth," groused one barker whose cry of "nekked women" was attracting little trade. Beer is sold from sidewalk stands to anyone who can prove he is over 18. For many it means digging in pockets for draft cards and drivers' licenses.

The college student with the most social status, President Johnson's oldest daughter, Lynda Bird, was not in view. Private Visit Miss Johnson, a senior at the University of Texas, was being squired about by actor George Hamilton, who also was her escort on a previous New Orleans visit. A White House spokesman said the visit is private.

Citizenship of Author Denied By Soviets

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government has revoked the citizenship of Valery Tarsis, Russian writer now in Britain who has bitterly criticized the Communist system.

Tarsis, 60, is the author of several books published abroad, attacking the Soviet system. He was allowed to go to Britain two weeks ago and has been making strong statements against the Communist regime to newsmen there.

Tarsis earlier had been dismissed by Soviet authorities as a lunatic. He contended that he had been thrown into a mental hospital simply for criticizing the government.

The Communist party newspaper Pravda published on its back page Monday a brief announcement saying Tarsis had been deprived of his citizenship "for the misdemeanors of defaming a citizen of the Soviet Union."

The action was taken by the Presidium, or steering committee, of the Supreme Soviet, the Soviet parliament. The date was not given.

It was not clear which citizen he is accused of having defamed.

Died in Battle

EDITOR'S NOTE — Danny Fernandez, of Los Lunas, N.M., the boys' director of Fortieth Community Club, died heroically in the war in Viet Nam. What were they like?

LOS LUNAS, N.M. (AP) — A Purple Heart for wounds received in one tour of duty in Viet Nam was not enough for Fernandez. He had to go back. Then, a heroic gesture cost him his life.

Fernandez, 21, has been nominated for his country's highest decoration for bravery, the Medal of Honor, for giving his life to save his buddies. Danny Fernandez died Friday in a fierce battle with the Viet Cong about 25 miles west of Saigon.

When a grenade was tossed into the midst of Danny's unit, ready to do anything. Before being flown away in a medical evacuation helicopter, Fernandez asked Sgt. Ruben Perkins, Nashville, Tenn., "Who's going to take care of you now?"

Grown Up Attitude
"We had been working together since he joined the unit," Perkins said. "He called me 'Sergeant Rock' and I called him 'Old Dan.' He was real young, but real grown up in his attitude."

Platoon buddies said he was a friend to everyone, generous with his money when others had run out. Fernandez said his son was wounded in Viet Nam in March 1965 after volunteering to go there. The soldier was awarded the Air Medal and Purple Heart.

Sculptor Discovers LBJ Like Lincoln

Leo Cherne 'Struck With Political, Facial Similarity' of Presidents

By LARRY FRIEDMAN
NEW YORK (AP) — "I was Committee chairman of Freedom of Information Act."

political and facial similarities of President Johnson and Abraham Lincoln," says Leo Cherne, who has just completed a bronze head of Johnson.

The sculptured head, some months on the Johnson project, es on a 7-inch black Belgian marble base—will be presented to Johnson in New York Wednesday night.

The President will be given the sculpture as the recipient of the Freedom Award from Freedom House.

Cherne, 53, a political economist, is director of the Research Institute of America, chairman of the International Rescue Commission, lived 15 days. The doctors did everything to save him.

His father, a foreman at a meat packing plant in this northeast Indiana city of 162,000, said his son was "not one to complain."

"You could not want a better boy than Steve," he said. "He was one in a million." Fellow soldiers agreed. He was presented a Bronze Star with "V" for valor.

At Lakeside Junior High School, Laier won several trophies for archery. He also played football and had attended North Side High School before enlisting in the Army.

Part-time jobs kept him busy after school and during the summer. He had worked as a stock boy in a discount department store and later behind the counter in a restaurant.

He and his father owned a registered beagle pup, "Car-mi." Steve had hoped to enter him in field trial competition.

Laier's letters home inquired about the dog, his father said. Nurse Marguerite Giroux helped the spunky soldier write some of these notes from the hospital at Bien Hoa.

"He was so brave that he didn't even want to tell his girl friend that he was so sick," the nurse recalled. "He said she should not have to worry about him."

Letters also were sent to a brother, Joseph L. Laier, in Edgerton, Ohio, two sisters, Karen and Kay, at home, and other friends.

His family later received a tribute to the young radioman written by his commanding officer, Maj. Gen. Jonathan Seaburn, who killed three men of his unit and injured the remaining 11.

Laier, given 60 blood transfusions, survived.

Bill Would Assures Milk For Students

WASHINGTON — Rep. Vernon W. Thomson, R., Richland Center this week introduced legislation making the school milk program a permanent one restoring cuts made by President Johnson in the program for the next school year.

Charging that the President was not justified in reducing the school milk program by 80 percent, the former Wisconsin governor curtly observed that "It is entirely absurd for the President to ask for billions of dollars for vast world-wide programs and social projects while he denies milk to the school children of America."

Under the terms of the Thomson Bill, authorization for the school milk program would not require re-enactment during every session of Congress.

Market Reels Under Impact Of Varied News

Reports Generally Point to Boom Year, Others See Gloom

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — A confused stock market has been swinging impulsively under the impact of contradictory news items.
Most reports are optimistic, but a handful of gloomy interpretations of some recent statistics has many less, or even that haven't yet a stock trader wondering.
Some pundits tell him that the checks, signs all indicate inflationary growth of the economy may already be under way — meaning stocks could be a good buy.
Personal income
Others say the signs of a slow-down are beginning to appear, if not quite as obvious as the statistics that show the economy and rising, the total of personal has risen even higher than first thought — meaning caution in stock buying may be a good bet.

Personal income is an example. The government reports that the total has just risen again, as usual and as expected. But it also reports that the rise was smaller than in previous months, trimming the impact of this strong ally of prosperity. The slowdown also was expected, because of the big increase in withholding from pay checks for Social Security.
Yet despite the slowdown in the pace of personal income gains, retail trade is still flourishing. Even the onslaught of bad February weather hasn't trimmed the total sales by much.
From this the puzzled stock traders can deduce either that consumers are bent on spending that money, or even that means saving in under way and are stocking up to beat price rises. This could make corporate securities look good. But some pundits are pointing out that inventories historically have risen sharply just as the business cycle was reaching its peak and that the government's guide-lines for holding them down will big stocks on hand cut into future orders to add impetus to the ensuing downturn.
This time the situation has a

Quebec Official Dies in Blaze

QUEBEC (AP) — Quebec's Lt. Gov. Paul Comtois died today in a fire which swept his home, police said.
Authorities said his daughter, Murielle, suffered arm burns trying to rescue her father. His wife was uninjured.
A score of police guarded the entrance to the home as the flames raged. Flames were visible for more than a mile and smoke filled the surrounding area.
Comtois, 70, became lieutenant governor Oct. 6, 1961, after four years as minister of mines and technical surveys in the federal Cabinet.
An agronomist who graduated from the University of Montreal and the Agricultural Institute of Oka, Que., he entered the House of Commons in 1957.

Top Year for Jobs In New England

BOSTON (AP) — Employment in New England reached an all-time high of 4,070,000 in December, the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported.
The figure showed an increase of 41,100 over November and was 135,500 over the previous December.
The bureau said 96 per cent of the work force in Massachusetts — 2,285,600 persons — were employed during December.

The way history is taught in school today, it's almost as fresh as yesterday's front page. If you had kept a file of the paper for last year and the year before that, your youngster would have a head start towards honors in current events.

You can do still better than that. By obtaining a copy of THE WORLD IN 1965 — and, if you didn't get one already, of THE WORLD IN 1964 — you can provide him with an educational tool that will set him apart.

No dry-as-dust yearbook, THE WORLD IN 1965 contains all the facts but recounts in dramatic, telling detail the big events, the interesting events, the significant events, of the year. The quality of the hundreds of news photos, in color and black and white, rivals that of the text.

This big, 288 page, hand-some book, costing only $3, has been prepared by the world's foremost news-gathering agency, The Associated Press, which cooperates with this newspaper in supplying you with the news of the nation and the world.

To obtain your copy of THE WORLD IN 1965, fill out and mail the coupon at once. The book will be ready in February.

Lawrence Students for The 'Byrds' March 7

Shaggy-Haired Rock Quintet, Folk Singer Dave Solberg to Appear on Chapel Stage

Pop-folk music, addicts hereabouts have a big-beat treat in store Monday night, March 7, when America's top entry in the rock 'n' roll derby, The Byrds, come to Lawrence University for a double-header concert engagement. The Byrds will perform in identical shows at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. in Memorial Chapel.

A bonus attraction at both concerts will be folk singer Dave Solberg, Chicago-born artist equally at home in the folk-rock, ballad and blues traditions. He is both guitarist and singer.

Sponsor of the events is the Lawrence Student Senate. Tickets are on sale at the Lawrence University Box Office, Music-Drama Center, 115 N. Park Ave. Box office hours are noon to 6 p.m., daily, except Sunday.

The Byrds are this country's answer to The Beatles, the Rolling Stones and the Dave Clark Five. Rocketed skyward by the phenomenal success of their hit recording, "Mr. Tambourine Man," The Byrds early in 1965 broke the British stranglehold on the American pop charts. Their style, moreover, has given a new direction and impetus to the pop music scene.

The Byrds have prospered by presenting "songs with a message sung in a manner which attracts the younger generations, and gives them something to think about, as well as something to dancing," according to London reviewer Nigel Hunter.

Popular Quintet One teen-ager, in describing the Byrds' attractiveness, writes of the "haunting quality" of their music; another talks of "that earthy quality that can give you the feeling of personal contact, as if they are speaking directly to you;" still another says, "They're bubbly and high and fast. They're rakish and raffish!"

Whatever their appeal, it is a certainty that the Byrds have arisen on powerful wings. Their ascent began in Los Angeles, Calif., in the summer of 1964. Jim Dickson, for years, Saturday, according to Sister, an advance man for folk and jazz people, called together five musicians for a night at the Beatles, first move. "A Hard Day's Night." Like many ob-servers, they saw the new show will be conducted by the work-dimension pop music was as-Sigrid Rasmussen who has been holding a second in summing through rock 'n' roll, taught extensively and holds a hand mimaster's degree from Columbia University.

Forming the Byrds, was a gimmick used both for distinctive identity, and to convey the group's musical style: one of soaring, flying movement. "Mr. Tambourine Man" came early in the Byrds, develop-

friend of Dickson, wrote the song, and in fact, had earlier recorded it himself. He was so impressed by the Byrds' rendition, that he gave his blessing to their recording, and the song shortly thereafter began its meteoric rise.

Up to this time, March, 1965, little or nothing had been heard of the Byrds as a group beyond the "in" circles around Hollywood's Sunset Strip. Jim McGuinn, guitarist; David Crosby, rhythm guitarist; Chris Hillman, bass guitar; Mike Clarke, drums; Gene Clark, harmonica, tambourine and vocal — all had considerable experience in coffee houses, folk music clubs, and such groups as the New Christy Minstrels.

Make Bid for Fame But that spring the Byrds made a fair bid for fame with appearances at such fashionable night spots as Ciro's, and top entertainment stages as the Hollywood Bowl and Los Angeles Shrine Auditorium. The frosting was put on their cake in a series of private party engagements hosted by Hollywood notables such as Barbara Hutton's son, Lance Renton, and actress Jane Fonda.

"Mr. Tambourine Man," meanwhile became one of the records of the year. It garnered for the Byrds top listing on British and American charts.

By the end of June, the Byrds were featured on the front covers of their fan club newspapers, numbered in the thousands. Since then it has been upward for their "soaring, flying" style. Young America has become Byrd-crazy in the way it once received the Beatles. And the tide shows no sign of receding.

Solberg, whose sturdy tenor voice beat lick up where the Byrd beat lick off, is known for a compelling uncluttered style in a variety of idioms including folk, standard, pop, folk-rock, show tunes, English ballads and blues.

He performed at the 1963 United States Exposition in Mexico City and has since toured American colleges and major cities.

Hawks Rap Zephyr Cage Team, 78-56

Xavier Wins FVCC Title By 3 Games

Table with 3 columns: Team, W, L. Rows include Xavier, Lourdes, Pennings, and Springs.

By JOHN L. PAUSTIAN Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Though little more than area prestige was at stake for the Xavier High School basketball team Sunday night the Hawks played with championship skill and vigor in dispatching Menasha St. Mary, 78-56.

In their final pre-tournament appearance, the Hawks' outshot St. Mary from the field 472 to 338, dominated the boards 452 to 331 and unleashed an unerring full-court press.

Seeking a 500 finish in the Fox Valley Catholic Conference and their first league victory ever over Xavier, the Zephyrs battled furiously for the entire 32 minutes. But, as a team, St. Mary won only the free throw duel — making 10 of 13, compared to 10 of 22 for the Hawks. St. Mary also had the consolation of producing the game's high individual scorer — Mike Gage, who clicked for 26 points.

Wins By 3 Games Four starters poured through six or more field goals apiece as the Gene (Torchy) Clark-coached Hawks achieved their fourth straight impressive win since their upset loss to Fond du Lac Springs The Hawks, with a 13-1 record, won the FVCC title — their fifth straight — by three games over runnerup Oshkosh Lourdes.

Xavier, completing the regular season with a 17-2 record, rounded out its first five years of FVCC play with a 57-3 standard.

Gene Jack, once again a flashy outside shooter, hit 10 of 23 from the floor enroute to a 22-point night. He also hauled in 12 rebounds.

Mike Heideman, sank six of 13 from the floor and five of six from the foul line, for a 17-point total. He gobbled up 13 rebounds.

Robertson Leads Royals Past Pistons

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The Boston Celtics and Philadelphia 76ers rested Sunday, but the other contender in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division — the Cincinnati Royals — didn't. In fact, the Royals struggled.

Cincinnati, with Oscar Robertson leading the way, outscored Detroit 39-26 in the third quarter and then withstood a fourth-period Piston rally for a 133-129 victory.

The triumph moved the Royals to within three games of the first-place Celtics and to within 2½ games of the 76ers.

The Eastern title scramble continues tonight when the Celtics play at Los Angeles, and the Royals take on the 76ers at Dayton, Ohio.

In the only other Sunday game, St. Louis lost a 20-point lead in the last 10 minutes but eezed Baltimore 126-123.

Saturday, Boston nipped Los Angeles 115-111. New York downed Cincinnati 124-113 and Philadelphia defeated San Francisco 123-119.

Holland's Verkerk Captures World Skating Crown

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP) — Holland's Cees Verkerk, winning everything Tom Gray of Minneapolis didn't, easily captured the combined title in the World Speed Skating Championships.

Gray won one race, the 500-meter Verkerk won everything else.

Verkerk wrapped up the championship Sunday by win-ning the final two events, the 1,000 and 10,000-meter race after the chance comes he goes on winning the 5,000-meter race offense. Not Westfall. He stays and placing 20th in the 500 Saturday. Gray was timed in 40.9 seconds to stay there for the 500. Verkerk in 43.0.

Shirley Helser Takes All-Events Lead in State Women's Test

WAUSAU (AP)—Shirley Helser of Appleton and Jean Burkart of Valders seized the top individual leads Sunday in the fifth weekend of the extended State Women's Bowling Tournament.

The Appleton bowler rolled a 1,623 to take over the all-events lead with a total 14 pins greater than that of Doris Hansen of Madison.

Jean Burkart edged ahead in the Class A singles with a 579 series. Helen Ziemba of Stanley moved into second with 577 while the previous leader, LaVerne Biedewolf of Sheboygan, dropped to third at 576.

Leaders changed in all but one of the singles categories in the tournament that runs through May 22.

Clarice Yunowich of Niagara rolled 570 to take the Class B lead from Lynn Bornemann of Milwaukee, who had 563.

Sharon Deming of Wauwatosa had a 509 series to capture the Class D lead. Mary Marcy of Three Lakes rolled 485 to tie the previous leader, Janet Dornier of Beaver Dam, for third.

Marilyn Wolf of West Allis held on to her Class C lead at 571, while Rosemary Welcing of Ladysmith moved into third at 534.

Coach of Black Hawks Complains

Hull's pace has become a hobbie mainly because of defensive tactics being employed in the league against the super star who scored his 47th goal in a 5-1 victory over Boston Sunday night to help keep the Chicago Black Hawks in first place.

Hull's goal came despite Ed Westfall, who is gaining notoriety as Hull's No. 1 shadow. Westfall's sole intent is to stop Hull and he is proving effective.

But Hull, who is not the type to complain openly, and Reay, who is, don't like the way Westfall is earning his bread.

Constantly Hooking "It's a shame that the most colorful player in the National Hockey League has to be checked illegally," cries Reay. "Westfall constantly is hooking Bobby and because Bobby is so strong and good that he refused to go down, the referees don't call the penalties they should."

Bobby is being deprived of his freedom to maneuver. A stick should be used to play the puck and if you want to check, you use your body. But these guys are using their sticks to check and it is impossible to get away from a guy using his stick to check," added Reay.

Hull, who needs four goals to break the 50-goal barrier which he shares with former Montreal stars Marucie Richard and Bernie Geoffrion, isn't as vociferous as Reay.

"He's doing his job," said Hull when asked about Westfall. "But he's not playing hockey. Unless he has a breakaway at mid ice he won't go after the puck."

Guards Closely Claude Provost (Montreal) championship Sunday by win-ning the final two events, the 1,000 and 10,000-meter race after the chance comes he goes on winning the 5,000-meter race offense. MARINETTE — The Cava-against-a-conference foe this season. Central Catholic had as much as a 32 point lead in the fourth quarter and Cavalier reserves saw action in the closing minutes.

Top scorer for the victors was Steve Sequin with 11 field goals and four free throws, for 26 points. The total was a season high for Sequin whose best previous effort was 20 against Appleton Xavier earlier in the campaign. Rocky Slawinski added 19 for Marinette.

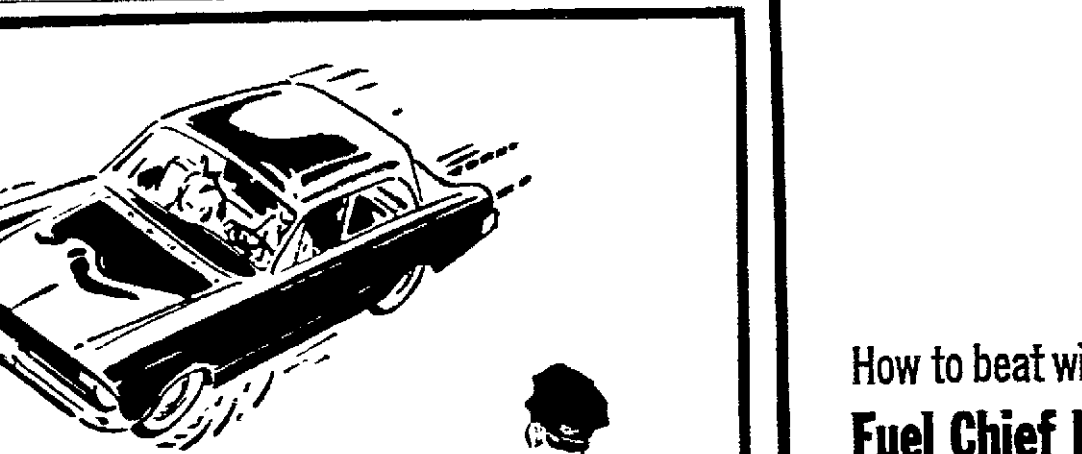

Leading the point-makers for St. John was junior center Lloyd Hackel who had 20 of golf, puffed his way "through" Hackel had four field goals and seven or eight "stogies" Sunday as he shot a steady 70 and whipped Gene Littler in a sudden-death playoff for the $9,000 first prize in the Tucson Open Golf Tournament.

Wolverines Face Tough Task At Iowa Tonight

Hawkeyes Undelected at Home; Wisconsin Meets Northwestern

Table with 3 columns: W, L, Pct. Rows include Michigan, Michigan State, Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Northwestern, Ohio State, Wisconsin, Indiana, and Purdue.

Lourdes Edges Ledgers, 58-56 For 10-4 Mark

By JOE MOOSHLI Michigan's Wolverines, holding a two-game lead in the stretch run of the Big Ten basketball race, face their toughest assignment of the season tonight at Iowa City.

The Iowa Hawkeyes, who have not lost at home this season, could tighten the race with a victory against the on-charging Wolverines.

Michigan warmed up for the Iowa battle in record-breaking fashion Saturday with a 128-94 points eclipsed the Big Ten record of 122 set by Indiana seven years ago.

Scoring Mark While Michigan was setting a record, the Wolverines also were victimized by an individual — scoring mark as Dave Schellhase poured in 57 points to erase the record of 56.

Spings applied a full court held by Indiana's Jimmy Rayl. Should Michigan lose at Iowa the first half. Lourdes held a will climb within one game of slim 29-25 lead at the intermission but came back fast in the day night when the two teams meet at East Lansing.

Illinois climbed into a second place tie with a 100-89 triumph over Minnesota while Michigan honors went to Tom Shaw, of State was suffering a 78-77 defeat at Wisconsin.

Other games tonight find Indiana at Purdue. Ohio State at Minnesota and Wisconsin at Northwestern.

After the Iowa game, Michigan has a date at Purdue and then returns home for games against Iowa and Northwestern before closing the season at Michigan State.

Three Straight The Wolverines must not lower their guard at home against either Iowa at Northwestern, which has won three straight, including an 83-82 decision at Indiana Saturday.

Michigan State must close the gap before the Spartans face, couldn't keep control as Tom the Wolverines in the season Gindorff's basket with 16 seconds left tied the score at 60-60 two-game lead to the end, and forced an overtime.

MSU triumph would mean nothing. However, if Michigan goes to East Lansing with only a one the rest of the way to win, 70-66.

Knights Finish Second in FVCC; Tom Shaw Scores 31

OSHKOSH — Lourdes High School avenged an earlier season loss to Fond du Lac St. Mary Springs by nipping the Ledgers, 58-56 Sunday afternoon at the Lourdes gym.

The win gave Coach Red Kemp's quintet it's third straight 10-4 FVCC record and second place for the third year in a row. It was the fifth straight win for the Knights.

Fond du Lac finished the campaign with a 7-7 mark and will meet St. Gregory of St. Nazian here Thursday in the elimination game for the Region 5 WCIAA Tournament.

Full Court Press

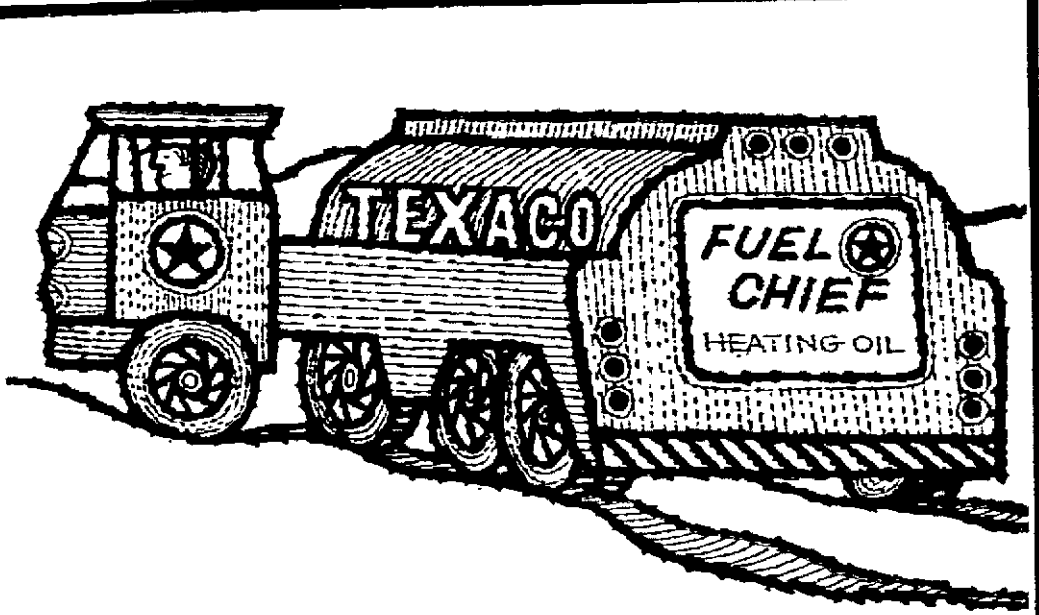

Senior Greg Graber and junior Bill Ratzburg dumped in 16 points for the Knights, but game over Minnesota while Michigan honors went to Tom Shaw, of State was suffering a 78-77 defeat at Wisconsin.

Lourdes shot 42 per cent to 31 for Springs and outrebounded the Ledgers, 38-24.

St. Norbert Quint Loses in Overtime

St. Norbert College (11-13) led, 56-50, with 2½ minutes to go against Loras Saturday but couldn't keep control as Tom the Wolverines in the season Gindorff's basket with 16 seconds left tied the score at 60-60 two-game lead to the end, and forced an overtime.

MSU triumph would mean nothing. However, if Michigan goes to East Lansing with only a one the rest of the way to win, 70-66.

Black Hawks Protect Lead With 5-1 Win

Montreal, Detroit Also Victorious; Hull Scores 1 Goal

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dick Duff never was able to call New York home but the Montreal Canadiens' current hotshot has decided it's a nice place to visit.

Duff, whose 12-year National Hockey League career includes a brief and frustrating stint as a New York Ranger, completed a seven-point weekend with two goals and two assists Sunday night in Montreal's 5-3 triumph over the Rangers.

The slim veteran scored his first hat trick in nine seasons Saturday night as the Canadiens whipped first-place Chicago 5-2.

The Black Hawks protected their two-point edge over Montreal with a 5-1 victory over Boston Sunday night and the third-place Detroit Red Wings snapped a three-game losing string by thumping Toronto 4-1.

The Wings trail the second-place Canadiens by two points in the pennant race.

Not Big City Boy

Duff is happy to be a Canadian but he won't knock the Rangers, for whom he played parts of two seasons before moving on to Montreal in a trade for Billy Hicke last winter. "I never had anything against New York or the Rangers' management," he said after Sunday night's game. "But I guess I'm not a big-city boy."

The 5-foot-10, 165-pound speedster, a bachelor, found it difficult adjusting to New York living and the Ranger style of play. He scored only seven goals in 43 games for the Rangers after posting 174 for Toronto over a nine-year span.

Chicago's Bobby Hull, shut out in Montreal Saturday night, scored his 47th goal of the season in the Black Hawks' victory over Boston. He needs four more in the Hawks' remaining 17 games to crack the single-season record of 50.

The Rangers defeated Toronto 3-1 while Boston drubbed Detroit 3-1 in Saturday night's other games.

Defending Champ In Team Event Fails to Repeat

EAU CLAIRE (AP)—Defending champion Loser's Lounge of Kenosha fell 77 pins short Sunday in its bid to repeat its open team championship in the 1966 Wisconsin State Bowling Association men's tournament.

Loser's Lounge rolled 2,866 in its appearance in the marathon meet that continues through May 15 and climbed into second place in the standings, but Bo Lanes of Menomonee Falls continued as the leader with 2,943 racked up the previous weekend.

Frank Carbone of Kenosha edged ahead of Bob Kommers of Antigo in the open scratch singles competition. Carbone had a 642 series Sunday to take first from Kommers, who bowled 641 the previous weekend.

Regular Division

Kommers continued to lead the regular division with 655, while Carbone vaulted into second with his 652 score.

Wanta's Bar of Stevens Point knocked Bo Lanes out of third place in the regular handicap team competition with 2,958. Sammy's Pizza, Superior, with 2,964, and Chetek Boats, with 2,959, continued as the division leaders.

In the junior team competition, John Oster Mfg. of Milwaukee pulled into a third-place tie at 2,656 with Club 29, Menomonee. The leaders remained Olstad's Floor Covering, Edgerton, with 2,685, and Western Metal, Milwaukee, at 2,673.

Carbone's advance was the only change in the top three places in each of the four single divisions.

Lew Alcindor Breaks UCLA Frosh Record

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Freshman basketball whiz Lew Alcindor fired in 37 points Saturday night against Los Angeles City College to set an all-time UCLA frosh school scoring record.

The 18-year-old, 7-1½ ex-All-America prep star has scored 574 points in 17 games to break the former mark of 539 set by Ron Lawson in the 1959-60 season of 22 games.

Alcindor, who played high school ball at Power Memorial in New York City, also pulled down 33 rebounds as the UCLA yearlings overwhelmed Los Angeles City College 125-57.

It was the 17th win against no losses for the freshman team. Four games remain on the schedule.

Alcindor, the tallest player ever to wear the Bruin uniform, set a New York City scoring record for three years of 2,067 points and had 2,002 rebounds over the same period.

His average at UCLA is 33.7 points per game.

Marquette Stops Pius '5'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Green Bay West had a near miss and Paul Johnson of Orfordville had nearly none at all. West, ranked No. 2 among the "Big Ten" of Wisconsin high school basketball, just barely missed losing for the first time this season as the Wildcats tipped Oshkosh 65-63 Saturday night. Johnson missed only two of 31 shots from the floor in leading little Orfordville to two more victories over the week-end.

Milwaukee Marquette, defending champion in the state Catholic tournament which starts Tuesday, ambushed fifth-ranked Milwaukee Pius 55-48 Sunday and forced Pius into a three-way tie with Milwaukee Messmer and Racine St. Catherine for its conference crown.

No. 9 Appleton Xavier, among the favorites to succeed Marquette, finished its season Sunday by mauling Menasha St. Mary 78-56.

No. 7 Wisconsin Lutheran (18-0) became the first team to finish a sweep of its regular schedule by running over Milwaukee Concordia 79-68 Saturday night. West and Madison East are among seven other unbeaten teams that will be trying to duplicate that feat this week.

Johnson, who sank all 16 of his floor shots and scored 38 points Friday night, missed only twice in 15 field goal attempts Saturday night to boost a .935 shooting mark for the 24-hour period.

He scored 31 points in the second game as Orfordville (16-1), ranked No. 7 among the state's smaller schools, hammered Blanchardville 91-58. Johnson is shooting at a .779 clip over his last seven games.

Milwaukee Marquette (11-9), earlier considered unlikely to succeed in defense of its Catholic state title, served notice that it will be difficult to dethrone with its victory over Pius (18-2), abbed previously as the likely winner of the tourney.

The Hilltoppers, now riding a five-game winning streak, overhauled Pius late in the third period and shot well ahead in the fourth quarter when the Pops went cold from the field.

Milwaukee Messmer (17-3), led by John Johnson with 34 points, shelled Sturtevant St. Bonaventure 80-62 and Racine St. Catherine (17-3) whipped Waukesha Memorial 75-55 for the conference tie with Pius with two losses apiece.

Appleton Xavier (17-2) dominated the Fox Valley Catholic Conference for the fifth straight year, winding up with its victory over Menasha St. Mary Sunday, while Oshkosh Lourdes (11-8) finished second with a 58-56 decision over Fond du Lac Springs.

Superior Cathedral (14-4) surprised Ironwood, Mich. (14-2) in a 47-44 title showdown to tie for the Michigan-Wisconsin Conference championship Saturday night.

Central Wisconsin Catholic Conference champion Eau Claire Regis (16-4) finished its regular season Saturday night with a 66-55 victory over second-place Stevens Point Pacelli (13-6). Dan Fisher scored 25 points for Regis.

Wisconsin Lutheran will carry its victory string into its own invitational Lutheran tournament this weekend. Madison East finishes its schedule against Beloit and Green Bay West winds up against Sheboygan North in games this Friday night.

Also still unbeaten are No. 8 New Holstein and Alma, Attona, Eagle River and Stockbridge, ranked in that order among the "Little Ten" elite of the smaller schools. Stockbridge (15-0) edged Freedom 60-58 Saturday night.

proving Hawk, sank six out of nine field shots in one of his rare starting roles and was a rebounding demon — with 13 recoveries. His point total was also 13. The fast and aggressive Tom Heinrich hit on six of 10 floor attempts.

Gage, maneuvering expertly around and through the Xavier zone defense, sank 16 of 17 floor shots and six of eight free throws. Mike McClone, a poised Zephyr sophomore, made five of 12 floor shots and finished with 13 points. Greg Gill led Zephyr rebounders, with nine.

Bob Karisny-coached St. Mary never led in the game. The Zephyrs trailed from the time Jack's corner shot found the mark 29 seconds after the opening tip-off. The first period, however, was nip-and-tuck, and it appeared as if a repeat of the teams' initial encounter (won by the Hawks, 52-49) were in the offing. Gage accounted for the Zephyrs' first 10 points, and St. Mary was behind by only two points, 16-14, at quarter's end.

Shoot 80 per cent
In the second period, the Hawks blistered the nets at an 80 per cent pace to take firm command of the game, at 40-26. Xavier marksmen cracked the Zephyrs' pressure, man-to-man defense for 12 baskets in 15 shots.

Ahead only 22-19 in the first two minutes of the quarter, the Hawks whipped in eight straight points in a 1½ minute span for a 30-19 lead. Heinrich scored on a jumper, Hardy sank a drive-in, and Heideman and Hardy rebounded for goals.

Both teams hit five of 13 in the third quarter and scored 11 points — and the lead remained at 14 (51-37). Midway in the final period, the Hawks turned on the steam for 10 consecutive points to turn a 60-45 edge into a 70-45 lead — their widest margin of the game.

Now owners of a 3-game winning streak, their longest of a previously - bleak 1965-66 season, the Bays did more than assuage their wounded pride in the weekend process. They also played havoc with the Hawks' hopes of unprecedented third straight USHL title by sweeping their guests, who lost a series for the first time this season.

Loyola Avenges Loss to Wichita

Davidson, Duke Eye Titles in League Post-Season Tourneys

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's time once again for Duke and Davidson, two of the better college basketball teams in the country, to find out if they once again will be the two best non-champions in the country.

Davidson has held that status for the past two years while Duke strayed into that area last year.

In the case of these two teams, a nonchampion is one that finishes on top of its league in regular-season play but which loses in the league's post-season tournament, thereby missing out on the championship and a berth in the NCAA tournament.

Davidson, loser of only one of 12 Southern Conference contests this season, opens its bid Thursday for the championship that has eluded it the past two years.

Has 11-1 Record

Duke, the nation's second-ranked team, has clinched top seeding in the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament with an 11-1 record. The Blue Devils complete their regular schedule this week with league games against Wake Forest and North Carolina.

In the opening Southern Conference game, the Wildcats take on The Citadel, a team they've already beaten twice this season. But based on recent history, that should be no indication of the outcome this time.

In this year's tournament, March 3-5, the Blue Devils could open against South Carolina, the only conference team to beat them this season.

Both Davidson and Duke won Saturday night, the Wildcats Arizona State 92-76.

U. S. Shut Out Again in Nordic Ski Championships

HOLMENKOLLEN, Norway (AP) — The United States is likely to have a man on the moon before it has a man on top of the Nordic ski world.

U.S. competitors again were shut out Sunday at the World Nordic Ski Championships but the showing came as no surprise to Mike Gallagher of Rutland, Vt., who has lived in Norway at times to sharpen his skiing.

"We could expect no more this year," said the 23-year-old New Englander. "But if we want to go on working, and can keep this squad together, the United States can become a potential threat."

"I'd guess it would take five or six years."

The guess is that the United States will have a man on the moon in three or four.

Gallagher was the leading American finisher in the 15-kilometer — 9.3-mile — cross-country race, placing 34th in 51 minutes, 36.8 seconds. John Bowler of Auburn, Maine, was the top U.S. competitor in the jumping phase of the Nordic combined competition, placing 24th.

In the 15-kilometer race, Norwegians scored a 1-2-3 sweep as Norway's King Olaf watched, maintaining their lead in the team standings with 23 points to 19 for Finland and 17 for Russia.

Gjermund Eggen was first in 47:56.2. Ole Ellefsaeter second in 48:11.3 and Odd Mathisen third in 48:14.7.

Eggen's triumph came in the fourth event of the 11-day championships, which consist of jumping and cross-country events.

Behind Gallagher among the U.S. finishers were Mike Elliott of Durango, Colo., 43rd in 52:35.4; Larry Damon of Burlington, Vt., 49th in 53:50.4; and Clark Matis of Durango, next to last among the 68 entries in 58:40.7.

Mikkelsen Nears Mark in Winning Class B Ski Title

WISCONSIN RAPIDS (AP) — Peter Mikkelsen of Westby soared 145 feet, only seven feet less than the hill record at Duiracuse Mound in Wisconsin Rapids, to win the Class B title in the Wisconsin Senior State Open Ski Jumping Championships Sunday.

The hill record of 152 feet was set in 1963 by Olympic veteran John Balfanz of Minneapolis. Minn. Mikkelsen's first jump was 135 feet, which gave him a total of 138.1 points for the one-day event.

Lyle Swenson of Westby won the Class A championship. He had leaps of 131 and 132 feet for 132.7 points.

The Junior A title was won by Tom Ricchio of Racine with jumps of 128 and 118 feet for a total of 121.5 points.

Rolf Stendahl of Beloit won the Veterans championship with jumps of 126 and 128 feet for 119.1 points.

Carleton isn't champion mathematically yet in the Midwest Conference basketball race, but the suspense is over and only the formalities of a few games remain.

The Carls edged Knox 64-62 in overtime Saturday to keep a two-game lead over Beloit with just three to play. The victory completed Carleton's encounters with the three teams still struggling for second place — Beloit, Monmouth and Knox.

Beloit, with a half-game edge over Monmouth, the team which inflicted both of Carleton's losses, faces its closest pursuer this Saturday after meeting Knox Friday night in a double showdown for the Buccaneers.

Beloit belted Cornell Saturday night 101-85 while Monmouth spanked St. Olaf 94-83. Ripon maintained their lead in the nipped archrival Lawrence 78-72 and Coe clipped Grinnell 76-68.

Carleton, beaten by Monmouth Friday night, was forced into an overtime against Knox Saturday when the losers' Marty Pschirrer sank a 40-foot jump score 62-62. John Wilson's basket at the start of the extra session was the only score of the five minutes as the Carls notched their second overtime victory over Knox this season.

Ripon has Cornell, Iowa as a guest Friday night while Lawrence faces Grinnell. The Red Men and Vikings trade opponents Saturday.

When preparing your '66 return, make certain that you have the vouchers, bills, receipts, etc., to back up all of your deductions for traveling and entertainment expenses and business gifts. If you don't have these necessary supporting documents and if your return is examined, you can just about take for granted that your claims deductions will be disallowed.

However, you can continue to use estimates for many other kinds of deductible expenses for which you don't or can't keep detailed records. Thus, you still are entitled to deduct a reasonable estimate of expenses for contributions, taxes, telephones, stamps, home expenses (other than entertainment) in connection with business, etc. Last year one determined businessman stood up for his right to deduct a reasonable estimate of — $67,000 for the Honey Fitz such expenses — and won. An another $35,900 for a second examining agent had barred his yacht, the Patrick J. But those deduction of $36.97 for Christmas figures will not be found in the mas cards to customers because budget President Johnson submitted to Congress this year or list of all persons to whom the last. It is concealed in a maze cards had been sent to prove of Defense Department budget their business nature! Complaints by the businessman's professional adviser reached the Congressional Joint Committee

ing of "reprogramming." Airplane Costs
Another item of Presidential transportation is similarly concealed in the Defense Department budget. This one provides estimates can still be used for business expenses other than travel. Ranch in Texas of a specially equipped and outfitted twin-engine Beech King airplane.

Not only are these expenditures almost impossible cards. This tale has two more to find in the vast Pentagon, also: you still can use estimates budget. As of today, they are for many kinds of business also classified "secret," along expenses (the so-called Cohan with defense budget items of rule), and sticking up for your real strategic importance.

It would be ridiculous to quibble about Mr. Johnson's clear right to refit the Honey Fitz or to purchase a comparatively small airplane for use around the wide open spaces of Texas.

What causes concern is that, for two years now, Mr. Johnson has made a fetish out of petty economies in the White House, turning off the lights and restricting the use of White House cars. This may be the reason why the President has gone to some lengths to conceal perfectly justifiable expenditures for his own transportation.

No effort was made to ask Congress to finance rebuilding of the Honey Fitz or the Patrick J. Instead, the money for this job was "reprogrammed" from a Congressional appropriation voted last year for other purposes. The same is true of the $325,000 for the twin-engine, custom-built Beech King.

Comfortable yachts, manned by Filipino Navy stewards as they steam down the Potomac, have long been a Presidential fixture in Washington. But the Honey Fitz (the Barbara Anne under President Eisenhower but renamed by President Kennedy) appeared doomed during the 1964 campaign. President Johnson had notified Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, the Pentagon announced, that he had no further need of the boat and that the Navy had "inactivated" it at the Washington Navy Yard.

No Presidential Here was another nickel-and-dime economy measure by the President to reduce White House expenditures. It fit perfectly with the President's edict against non-essential night time lighting of White House offices.

The edict cutting down on the electricity bill is still in force. But the rebuilding of the Honey Fitz indicates that ultra-economy moves now stop at the water's edge.

As for the twin-engine Beech King, the President has a legitimate need for it down in Texas.

But there was no formal presentation of this need to Congress. Instead, the reprogramming that shifted funds to the Beech King was accomplished quietly by a letter from the Pentagon to the appropriations committees last Aug. 26.

Money to finance refurbishing the yachts was found in another Pentagon reprogramming later last fall. Overhaul of the yachts began Dec. 2, with a completion date of March 1.

Besides finding the money through the reprogramming gimmick, President Johnson skillfully covered his flank. He not only quietly informed former President Eisenhower about the Beech King, but offered to make it available to the General at his convenience.

person who must use your car to transport bulky tools or other instruments to your job, you can deduct your car expenses if you use the car primarily to transport that equipment. To prove that the car was primarily used for this purpose, you generally must show that you would have used buses, subways, or trains if you didn't have to carry your heavy or bulky tools to work. So if you use your car primarily for this purpose, claim the deduction. If an examining Treasury agent ever disagrees with you about the primary purpose, however, you won't have a chance in the Tax Court, for the Tax Court last year held that this is a nondeductible commuting expense and no deduction can be taken for the car expense.

Thus, it is essential that you have air-tight proof you used your car primarily for carrying your bulky or heavy equipment to work, so no Treasury agent would have reason to question your claim.

Questions and Answers

Q—I just filed my return. How long will it take to get my refund?

A—It usually takes about six weeks to process a refund return that is properly made out. A refund may take longer than that if the return is filed just before the April 15 deadline.

An error on the return will also delay the refund and so will the selection of the return for a pre-refund audit. Among the most common causes of delay in receiving a refund are failure to sign returns and to give correct social security numbers.

Q—What business travel expenses are deductible?

A—Travel expenses include fares, the cost of operating and maintaining your automobile, and meals and lodging incurred while away from home overnight on business. They are deductible to the extent that they are not lavish or extravagant under the circumstances. Transportation expenses (which do not include the cost of meals and lodging) may be deducted even though you are not away from home, if incurred for transportation which is directly due to the actual conduct of your job.

Q—Tax is withheld from my paycheck but I still end up owing money when I file my return. Is there anything I can do about this?

A—One way to increase your withholding is to drop some of your exemptions for payroll purposes. You can always claim all the exemptions you are entitled to when you file your tax return. If this is not enough, you can ask your employer to withhold additional amounts from your paycheck.

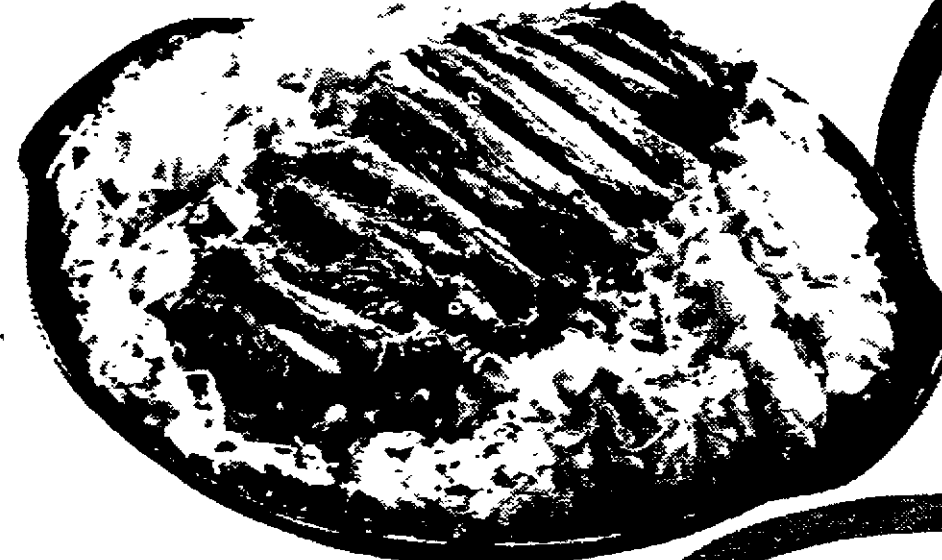

Q—What items do you include when figuring out support furnished a dependent?

A—Support includes food, shelter, clothing, medical and dental care, educational and similar expenses. If items provided as support are goods or lodging, then the fair market value of these items should be used.

Q—I just sold my home. What should we include when working out the cost basis and the sales price?

A—The cost of the house to you would be the initial purchase price plus the cost of permanent improvements you have made, purchase commissions, title fees and the like less any deferred gain on a home previously sold. From your selling price you can deduct selling commissions, advertising fees and similar costs incurred in transferring the property.

Form 2119, "Statement Concerning Sale or Exchange of Personal Residence," will be of great help to you in calculating any tax liability. Write Your District Director for a copy. Also, ask for a copy of Document No. 5017—"Selling Your Home."

DeGaulle Says All Foreign Troops to Be Ruled by French

Believed to Mean France Will Continue to Pull Out of NATO

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle said today all foreign troops elements in France after April 4, 1969 will have to be under French command only. That is the date when members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization can choose to leave NATO.

In the first news conference of his second term in office, the French president declared NATO no longer is adapted to present-day needs. He said France intends to "progressively" modify dispositions now in force.

This was taken to mean that he would continue to withdraw French elements from NATO but in such a manner as to permit the 14 other NATO allies to adjust to it.

20,000 Troops

The United States now has about 20,000 troops in France, running supply and other bases. In addition, the French president's statement that foreign troops would have to come under French command threw into question the status of such big Allied installations as NATO headquarters near the Bois de Boulogne in Paris, and the rambling Versailles headquarters of supreme headquarters of Allied powers in Europe.

De Gaulle told nearly 1,000 newsmen and officials in Elysee Palace: "It is the will of France to dispose of her own fate."

He said this in connection with the announcement on French command of foreign troops on the soil after April 4, 1969. He declared the United States has been in conflicts such as Korea, Cuba (sic) and Viet Nam.

Paper Historian Dard Hunter Dies in Ohio

Founded Museum Now in Appleton; Author of 20 Books

Dard Hunter, founder and honorary curator of the Dard Hunter Paper Museum at The Institute of Paper Chemistry in Appleton, died Sunday in Chillicothe, Ohio, at the age of 82.

He was considered to be perhaps the world's leading authority on the history of paper and its manufacture. His museum consisted of materials he had collected personally from all parts of the world where paper has been made.

He was the author of more than 20 books on papermaking history. The Dard Hunter Paper Museum is the world's foremost collection of paper related historical items.

He established the museum first at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1939. It was moved to The Institute of Paper Chemistry in 1954.

Hunter was born in 1883 in Steubenville, Ohio, where his father was a newspaper editor. In 1900, the family moved to Chillicothe, Ohio where the father became editor of the News-Advertiser.

At age 18, Hunter began study at the Roycroft Shops in East Aurora, N.Y., in printing and book design, becoming the art director there in 1905.

In 1908, he married Helen Edith Cornell of New York. She preceded him in death.

Roller May Force League To Open Books

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Circuit Judge Elmer Koller reserved decision today on whether baseball should be forced to open its books in Wisconsin's antitrust suit against the Braves and the National League.

The judge indicated he would rule later today on the motion by special counsel to the state attorney general.

The state insisted it needed data on radio, losses, television and player salaries for each of the 10 league clubs. To buttress its claim that Milwaukee has done comparably well in supporting baseball during the past 13 seasons.

Adm. Nimitz Dies at 80; Career Spanned Two Wars

As a young officer, the soft-spoken Texan had indeed been found guilty and reprimanded by a Navy court — for running a destroyer aground in Manila Bay.

The admiral, who died Sunday at 80, commanded a thousand ships and two million men during the battles leading to the surrender of Japan. He was the last of the five-star admirals.

Despite the admiral's awesome power, the admiral disliked pomp. On his 75th birthday the Navy staged a big party for him and he remarked:

"Am I looking forward to this? I'm looking forward to the end of it. I feel the same about it as the man who bought himself a small boat: His two happiest days were when he bought it and when he sold it."

The admiral's first experience with a small boat was not pleasant. Born in a landlocked town, he never had seen an ocean until he arrived at Annapolis and became seasick on his first voyage — in a small boat there.

Nimitz, whose career at sea spanned two world wars and the birth of the atomic age, died of

as a man of "quiet courage and resolute leadership." The President said Nimitz "had earned the undying gratitude of his countrymen and an enduring chapter in the annals of naval history."

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said: "Admiral Nimitz was one of the most distinguished officers of World War II. The entire nation will always owe him a debt of gratitude for his brilliant service in World War II. He was a good friend whom I admired and respected deeply."

Nimitz was jumped over 24 senior admirals to become commander in chief of the Pacific fleet after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941.

His high command spanned the Navy's greatest days — at Coral Sea, Midway, Guadalcanal, Leyte Gulf and finally the Japanese surrender in Tokyo Bay, where he signed the agreement as U.S. representative.

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. cavalry troopers and B-52 bombers teamed up today in tear gas and bombing attacks on a suspected hiding place of a hard-core Communist regiment on South Viet Nam's central coast. A U.S. Navy destroyer poured shells into potential havens along the shore.

The massive toxic gas, air and naval attacks hit areas where U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division troops, U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese forces are tracking down several regiments of well-trained enemy troops.

With the Marines and South Vietnamese pressing an enemy force of between 900 and 1,000 in the Phuoc Valley about 300 miles to the south near Bong Son.

Launch Attack

The cavalrymen launched the attack by spraying the area with tear gas from helicopters. Then the superbombers flying from Guam saturation-bombed the target area.

After the air attack, troops of the cavalry division's 5th Regiment donned gas masks and flew into the target aboard helicopters. Their mission: assess damage done by the B-52s and wipe out any Viet Cong survivors. But dusk prevented any.

In the air, the United States lost a jet bomber and two helicopters.

The U.S. 7th Fleet destroyer Orleck joined the ground assault by blasting the coast of Quang Ngai Province with 300 rounds of five-inch shells, either wrecking or damaging more than 100 buildings in an area the Viet Cong have used for rest camps.

Air War

The air war continued in North and South Viet Nam. Below the 17th Parallel front-line heavy Communist ground-fire struck two B-57 Canberra tactical bombers flying tight support of South Vietnamese troops closing in on 40 to 50 Viet Cong in an open area.

One of the twin-engine jets crashed with its rear fuel tank ablaze but the pilot, Capt. J. T.

Humphrey Arrives For Manila Talks

1,000 Demonstrators March Through City Voicing Protest

MANILA (P) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey arrived tonight to discuss American Viet Nam policies in the Philippine capital where left-wing demonstrators shouting "Humphrey go home" besieged the U.S. Embassy only a few hours before.

The airport was cordoned off by an unusually large number of security forces.

Humphrey in an airport statement said he would talk to President Ferdinand E. Marcos Tuesday on the Viet Nam situation.

Humphrey arrived from New Zealand as the Philippine Congress began debates on Marcos' proposal to send a 2,000-man combat engineer unit to Viet Nam.

Oppose Visit

This was the proposal which drove demonstrators into the streets; about 1,000 of them marched from the presidential palace to Congress and then to the U.S. Embassy.

The demonstrators, opposing not only Humphrey's visit but U.S. policies in Viet Nam, dispersed about an hour and a half before the vice president's arrival. But they said there would be another demonstration Tuesday.

The demonstrations by students, civil servants and farmers were called to oppose a $4-million bill in the Philippine Congress that would finance the sending of 2,000 combat engineers to Viet Nam.

Earlier today Humphrey conferred with Prime Minister Keith J. Holyoake of New Zealand at Parliament House in Wellington. A handful of demonstrators stood silently outside with signs denouncing the Viet Nam war.

Called Warmonger

During his arrival in Wellington Sunday from Canberra, Australia, Humphrey's car was rushed by a sign-swinging demonstrator who was hurled back by police. In Canberra the previous day about 150 demonstrators called Humphrey a "warmonger."

During the vice president's Australian visit, Prime Minister Harold Holt said his government would soon announce a decision whether to send more American soldiers to Viet Nam.

'Like Fox in Chicken Coop'

Humphrey, Ky Assail RFK View Viet Cong Should Share Saigon Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky of South Viet Nam have assailed Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's suggestion that the Viet Cong should be offered a share of power in the Saigon government.

They said Kennedy's proposals that the United States express willingness to accept a coalition South Vietnamese government which would include Communists would not be an acceptable solution, would not lead to peace and — if adopted — could impose on the people of South Viet Nam the very forces trying to destroy them.

Humphrey said history has demonstrated that when Fascists or Communists are included in a coalition government, there is either paralysis or takeover.

Fox, Newsmen

Speaking to newsmen at Wellington, New Zealand, during one of his many stops on a tour of Southeast Asia and the Pacific, the vice president said to adopt Kennedy's proposals would be like putting a fox in a chicken coop.

There wouldn't be too many chickens left, he said. "I do not believe in writing a prescription for the ills of South Viet Nam that includes a dose of arsenic," Humphrey said. "Sticking to analogies, he said

as a man of "quiet courage and resolute leadership." The President said Nimitz "had earned the undying gratitude of his countrymen and an enduring chapter in the annals of naval history."

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said: "Admiral Nimitz was one of the most distinguished officers of World War II. The entire nation will always owe him a debt of gratitude for his brilliant service in World War II. He was a good friend whom I admired and respected deeply."

Nimitz was jumped over 24 senior admirals to become commander in chief of the Pacific fleet after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941.

His high command spanned the Navy's greatest days — at Coral Sea, Midway, Guadalcanal, Leyte Gulf and finally the Japanese surrender in Tokyo Bay, where he signed the agreement as U.S. representative.

Supply of Trained Men Exhausted

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's armed services have almost exhausted their trained and ready military units, with all available forces spread dangerously thin in Viet Nam and elsewhere, the New York Times said today.

Hanson J. Baldwin, military affairs expert of the Times, wrote that this is the conclusion of a study he made of United States regular and reserve forces.

The story said in part: "The virtually all the combat-ready units in the United States have been committed to Viet Nam. Except for a few Army and Marine battalions and a few squadrons of the Tactical Air Command, no more units will be fully trained and equipped for a number of months."

In addition to the shortages in trained military manpower, there are major shortages in uniforms and clothing, and actual or potential shortages of various types of ammunition and equipment that are causing the services increasing concern.

The commitment of more than 200,000 men to Viet Nam, supported by strong air and naval forces, and the maintenance of two divisions in Korea, more than five in Europe and of smaller units elsewhere, including the Dominican Republic, have reduced the forces in the United States to a training establishment.

Wounded Rabbi's Condition Worse

DETROIT (AP)—Doctors say the condition of Rabbi Morris Adler, shot by a member of his congregation during Sabbath services eight days ago, has worsened slightly and they "are not encouraged." The hospital today reported no change in the "critical" condition of the 59-year-old rabbi.

Rabbi Adler, shot in the arm and head by Richard Wisniewsky, 23, who then fatally shot himself, has undergone brain surgery twice.

Case Searching Eliminated

Computers to Store Information To Aid Lawyers in Court Battles

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The wizardly world of computers has hit the legal profession. A company which has its headquarters in Milwaukee has developed a means of computer-izing the previously time-consuming task of searching for Wisconsin citations on specific points of law. The Wisconsin Bar Bulletin reports.

The company has stored all Wisconsin citations and the citations of other states contained in them in the "memory" of a computer, and makes available speedy, economical and complete retrieval of these facts to lawyers seeking such data.

By means of the computer's memory and almost instant recall, all citations used by courts in deciding source cases and all subsequent cases citing that same source are reviewed. All that is necessary to start the computer on its search is one or preferably two "input" cases.

Number Comparison The input cases must be submitted by volume, jurisdiction and page number, as the whole system is keyed on the comparison of such numbers.

Tens of thousands of comparisons can be completed by the machine in a manner of minutes.

The "output" cases are those that the machine finds to be relevant to the point in question, and they depend for their accuracy on the quality of the input cases. Between 70 and 90 per cent of the output cases are usually found to be relevant.

The computer usually delivers five to 10 or more output cases on any point, depending on the number desired by the questioner.

As additional cases are decided in court, the resulting information will be stored in the computer, making it always up-to-date.

To demonstrate the speed and efficiency of the system, the company will process free two citations on any given point for lawyers throughout the state. Output responses will be mailed overnight.

Card Game Produces 2 Unusual Situations

KAUKAUNA — Something rather rare and unusual happened in a game of skat last week at the Knights of Columbus women's card party at the K of C hall.

Mary Benotch held a grand ouvert with three jacks, which scored 192 points.

And Jack Verbaten held a spade solo against 11, which gave him 63 points without a trump and a 132 score.

Those hands compare with a 29 hand in cribbage or a royal flush in poker.

PSC Hearing Sought For Bridge Razing

New London, Railroad Company To Construct Grade Crossing To Replace Hazardous Structure

NEW LONDON — A petition weight limit has been placed on requesting a hearing for the razing of High Street bridge and the construction of a new crossing will be sent to the Public Service Commission shortly.

L. G. Tieman, divisional engineer, Green Bay, of the Chicago and North Western Railway Co., told Ray Pelishek, public works director, the railroad had agreed with the plan discussed at a joint meeting of the railroad and city officials Dec. 9 and that city attorneys would contact City Atty. S. W. Krostue to make a joint application to the PSC for a hearing.

No Delay Expected
It is believed a PSC ruling would be made without delay and a hearing would be no more than a formality because of the agreement reached between the firm and the city.

Travel over the bridge has become dangerous and a low man said — Permit the city to cross the railroad tracks with rubber tire vehicles to remove earth from the construction site.

— Grant the city a deed for a triangular parcel of land north of and adjacent to High Street and east of the railway right-of-way.

— Give the city a permanent easement over and across the railway right-of-way to install all utilities.

Work Begun
The city street department has begun work on the removal of earth from the site. Pelishek said about 5,000 cubic yards of earth had been removed, but this was only a start on the approximately 21,250 cubic yards that has to be removed.

The earth removal will cost an estimated $11,687. Earth removal will be the most costly item involved in cutting down the grade.

The only other major expenses to the city were the purchase of property and the blottopping of the roadway. Survey and plans for the job will cost about $850.

Removal of the bridge will cost the railroad company an estimated $1,960 and its work $4,115.

Action Delayed In Investigation

Committee action Friday was delayed again for at least another week in connection with an accident in which an Outagamie County squad car was demolished Feb. 3.

This delay, second in a week, is to allow Sgt. Lowell Veitch, acting head of the county traffic patrol, time to review all information regard to the accident.

Patrolman Thomas Hammen, 24, 915 W. Kimberly Ave., Kimberly, was driving a 1966 Dodge squad car about 4 a.m. Feb. 3 when the car went off County Trunk OO overpass and dropped about 25 feet onto U.S. 41. Hammen received minor injuries.

Check Mishap
A. W. Ponath, county corporation counsel, who was authorized Feb. 3 by the county board's law enforcement committee to investigate the mishap, this morning presented committee members with a edical report from a physician who examined Hammen.

It was evident this morning that the committee is split in thinking on what type of action should be taken in the case. A recommendation was made last week that Hammen be ticketed for inattentive driving.

Veitch is to report his recommendation to the committee at a meeting to be set for late next week.

The committee at that time reportedly will act on Veitch's recommendation.

Bill Would Assures Milk For Students

WASHINGTON — Rep. Vernon W. Thomson, R., Richland Center, this week introduced legislation making the school milk program a permanent one restoring cuts made by President Johnson in the program for the next school year.

Charging that the President was not justified in reducing the school milk program by 80 percent, the former Wisconsin governor curtly observed that "It is entirely absurd for the President to ask for billions of dollars for vast world-wide programs and social projects while he denies milk to the school children of America."

Under the terms of the Thomson Bill, authorization for the school milk program would not require re-enactment during every session of Congress.

Two years from now, reas- were used to remove the upper sembled, the king and the oth- part of the mountain topping the ers will be greeting the sunrise two temples. Then, with elec- trically guided saws, chisels History has many tales of and other tools. Italian experts Ramses' fondness for dismem- cut the huge monuments in bering his war captives. Today what was termed the greatest the swashbuckling Ramses, the archeological surgery in histo- beautiful Nefertari, the arro- gant sun god Amon-Ra and the The cofferdam will be flooded in August, but by then the whole operation will have been shifted to the temples' new site, above the reach of the waters.

Already several walls of the king's temples are rebuilt. An official ceremony was held to mark the start in reassembling the big temples. Egypt's tour- ism minister, Aziz Yassin, guid- ed huge cranes placing in position statues of four gods Ptah, the sun god Amon-Ra, King Ramses II (the deified himself before his death), and Nubia's god Re-Horachti. Beneath the four statues Yassin placed four copies of the Koran, four copies of the Egyptian National Charter, and several coins representing the five nations doing the salvage work—France, Italy, Sweden, West Germany and Egypt.
Little restoration work is planned. The scars caused by dismantling will remain, "for they are inescapably an important highlight in the history of the two temples," says the project manager, Carl Theodor Mackel of West Germany.
The 1,500 Egyptian and Euro- pean workers and engineers on the project are housed in a small colony and hundreds of tents near the temples' new site. There are a small airfield, a club and a swimming pool. A hotel and a tourist bazaar will also be built, Mackel said.
When the two temples get their new home, Mackel added, they will continue to stand maj- estically on the Nile, facing east.

U.S. Planes, Cavalry Hit With Bombs, Gas

The heavy bombardment is aimed at slowing the supply of men and arms to the south. The Strategic Air Command's Guam-based B-52s pounded Bing Duong Province near the Cambodian frontier about 35 miles northwest of Saigon.

U.S. spokesmen did not mention any losses of aircraft. The U.S. Marines reactivated Operation Double Eagle while the U.S. 1st Cavalry Airborne Division continued with Operation White Wing to the west in an effort to trap the Communist regiment. The destroyer was called in to make a Viet Cong retreat to the coast as costly as possible.

34 VC Killed
In an offshoot of Operation White Wing, the 1st Cavalry reported it had killed 34 Viet Cong 13 miles southwest of Bong Son, headquarters for the Allied coastal campaign 300 miles north of Saigon. Since White Wing began, the cavalrymen report they have killed 1,072 Viet Cong, captured 246 and seized 202 weapons.

The Canberras were strafing Viet Cong positions while South Vietnamese regiments were reported in heavy contact with the Communists. The B-57 caught fire on the second pass.

Within seven minutes, an Army helicopter piloted by Maj. Gilbert R. Hickenbottom of Sacramento, Calif., and Theodore Deffer of Fayetteville, N.C. picked up the two airmen.

Heavy Action
The heavy action brought a vow from Premier Nguyen Cao Ky to continue fighting the Viet Cong until they are eradicated from South Viet Nam. He said they are "suffering very heavy losses" and that they could expect no rest or negotiations with the government.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and the commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, flew to the 1st Cavalry's base at An Khe in the central highlands to participate in a ceremony renaming the base camp Radcliff after the first member of the new division to die in battle. 6, 1942, in which the Japanese lost four carriers and a heavy cruiser, was the turning point of the Pacific war, in the admiral's opinion. The Japanese offensive power sank with those carriers.

His decorations included 30 medals, ribbons and badges, 13 of them from foreign countries. A native of Fredericksburg, Tex., 20 miles from President Johnson's ranch — Nimitz said of his ocean-going profession, "It was a career by chance." He failed in a bid to get an appointment to West Point.

His naval career began, as it did for many other Americans, on San Francisco Bay. He shipped out in January 1905 aboard the battleship Ohio. He is known as an implacable foe of communism, long having kept communists out of Indonesia's Cabinet. He became defense minister in 1963 after 1964 years of leadership in the army.

of Denver, a helicopter pilot, was killed Aug. 18 when he landed an advance party near Chu Lai. His widow and two children live in Columbus, Ga.

About 25 mortar shells fell into a U.S. artillery battery and battalion headquarters area six miles south of Da Nang, causing what American officials described as light casualties. A patrol sent out to pursue the Viet Cong engaged 15 or 20 guerrillas in a brisk skirmish.

Other Viet Cong shells exploded in a Marine company command post west of Tam Ky, 35 miles south of Da Nang, where U.S. forces launched a multibattalion campaign Saturday to trap the Viet Cong's 1st Regiment in the Phuoc Valley.

Two battalions of South Vietnamese marines joined the Americans Sunday but so far the combined forces have encountered only small enemy patrols and stumbled onto an abandoned tunnel system.

The Americans reported killing 18 Viet Cong, capturing 7 and detaining 39 suspects since the start of the campaign. They have captured 42 weapons, 8,600 pounds of rice and 500 pounds of potatoes, a spokesman said.

Heavy Barrage
A few miles from the frontier with North Viet Nam, the Communists unleashed a barrage of 100 heavy 81mm mortars on a government post at Trieu Phong, three miles north of Quang Tri City, the provincial capital.

For an hour the 100 defenders lost radio contact with headquarters and took moderate casualties, a government spokesman said. The Communists broke off the attack when a flare ship appeared over the beleaguered camp to light up the Red mortar positions.

In Saigon, Viet Cong terrorists exploded a mine at a police station in the Chinese quarter, injuring four persons, including two policemen.

The renewed Communist mortar attacks followed a similar barrage before dawn Sunday on the U.S. 1st Cavalry's base camp at An Khe. U.S. officials said 80 mortar rounds cost some casualties but failed to lure two cavalry brigades back to the central highlands camp.

Division officers said the Communists apparently hoped to weaken the air cavalry operations around An Lao and Bong Son by drawing the brigades back to the base. One Viet Cong was reported killed as he tried to penetrate the camp's barbed wire defenses with a 40mm recoilless rifle, and six others were killed by cavalrymen reacting to a mortar attack on the camp's helicopter pad. Helicopters are the division's chief means of transport into battle.

Sukarno Ousts Armed Forces Chief
SINGAPORE (AP) — President Sukarno ousted armed forces chief Abdul Haris Nasution today, Radio Jakarta reported. It was Nasution who led the Indonesian army in crushing the Communist uprising last October. He shipped out in January 1905 aboard the battleship Ohio. He is known as an implacable foe of communism, long having kept communists out of Indonesia's Cabinet. He became defense minister in 1963 after 1964 years of leadership in the army.

paper while visiting a handmaking paper mill in 1911 in England. From this grew a desire to make an entire book. There followed several publications which he wrote, for which he made the paper, designed and cast the type, and printed on his own press.

The publications deal primarily with the making of paper by hand and with its history. Materials for the books were gathered on personal trips to south sea islands, Japan, China, Tibet, India, Siam, European countries and Central America.

He established handmaking paper mills at Marlborough — on Hudson in New York and at Lime Rock, Conn., where he made paper by hand for his books and other purposes between his trips.

The collected materials were then formally organized as the Dard Hunter Paper Museum.

Hunter had been in less than good health for a number of years. He generally traveled annually from his home in Chillicothe to the museum at the rate of increasing troop deployments to Viet Nam and raising the rate of air activity there, if several years annually spent in Puerto Rico where he was a consultant to the government in the establishing of a national library and museum of the printing crafts.

Moon Rocket, Saturn IB, To Make Bow

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The 22-story Saturn IB rocket, the most powerful built by the United States, makes its launching debut Wednesday as Project Apollo's first step on the long trip to the moon.

The rocket is to drill an unmanned Apollo ship 300 miles into space and drive it back through the atmosphere at a speed up to 18,000 miles an hour.

The ballistic flight, which will last only 39 minutes, is the first of a long series of Apollo launches which must precede the landing of American astronauts on the moon by 1970.

Recovery will be attempted when the cabin section, to hold future astronauts, drops by parachute into the South Atlantic 5-300 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy.

The launch is the first of three unmanned tests for the spacecraft and the rocket before three astronauts step inside the Apollo for an 8- to 14-day earth orbital journey late this year or early 1967.

Suggestion By Kennedy Is Criticized

into the hands of the North Viet namese," Ball concluded. Not Up to U.S.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said on the CBS radio-television program "Face the Nation" that "it is not my opinion that it's up to the United States to offer the Viet Cong a share in the Saigon government."

"Unless our policy has changed," Aiken said, "I would say that Sen. Kennedy's proposal is considerably out of order and that it would be up to South Viet Nam to make the proposal to share the responsibility of the government."

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which on Friday concluded televised public hearings into the administration's Viet Nam policies, declined to comment on the Kennedy suggestion.

But committee member Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said Kennedy is "pointing in the right direction in which we will have to go."

Leading Critic

Morse, a leading critic of the administration's Viet Nam policies, told a news conference in Harrisburg, Pa., the proposed $4.8-billion Viet Nam military authorization bill contains a "sleeper" that could escalate the war.

He said Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara testified during the recent Foreign Relations Committee hearings that the authorization bill would provide for increasing troop deployments to Viet Nam and raising the rate of air activity there, if several years annually spent in Puerto Rico where he was a consultant to the government in the establishing of a national library and museum of the printing crafts.

President asks for it.

"Any senator who votes for the bill votes for an escalation of the war," Morse said. The Senate resumes its debate on the money bill today.

Other Developments

In other top developments: — Newsweek magazine reported that President Johnson has issued secret orders forbidding U.S. bombers to fly over the northern half of North Viet Nam. The new restraint "represents a severe tightening of restrictions on U.S. pilots compared with those which were in effect before the bombing pause began last Christmas," the magazine said in its current Feb. 28 issue. There was no immediate comment from the White House.

Fire Sweeps Store Complex At Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Fire swept four stores in a suburban shopping center Sunday with damage estimated at more than $200,000.

Six firemen were treated at a hospital, three after falls on ice and two for possible frostbite suffered in the near-zero weather.

The flames destroyed the National Food Store, Podell Marks Store, and a building being remodeled for a doughnut business in the Westwood Shopping Center in suburban West Allis. The Badger Paint Store in the same complex was badly damaged.

About 75 firemen from West Allis and Wauwatosa battled the blaze for two hours before bringing it under control.

The four stores were housed in the same building, valued by its owner, Robert J. Wesolowski, 44, West Allis, at $225,000. He made no estimate of the damage to contents of the stores.

West Allis Fire Chief John Morch said the cause of the blaze was undetermined. It broke out in the supermarket, firemen said.

The blaze attracted a crowd of 2,000. Smoke rose several hundred feet into the air.

Firemen George Hinrichs, 53; Peter Sparacino, 39, and Robert Galbraith, 37, were treated after falls on the ice-coated parking lot of the shopping center. Gordon Gleason, 30, and Terry Sweek, 32, were treated for possible frostbite. Fire Capt. Peter Baukus, 45, suffered minor burns.

Mo., urged the elimination of target restrictions in North Viet Nam which he said were making the bombings largely ineffective. U.S. pilots, Symington said, should be permitted to bomb power plants, oil stores, docks and the like.

From Red China

— Red China accused Secretary of State Dean Rusk of threatening the Vietnamese and Chinese people with "a big war" during his testimony Friday before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The New China News Agency said the Chinese would fight if the war is extended to the China mainland.

Wash., called today for a showdown in Congress to determine if it supports the President's conduct of the Viet Nam war. Jackson said the Senate ought to accept the suggestion made Friday by Rusk that "if there is any doubt" whether it backs the President's course, it should vote on the issue.

Laird Says Freeman To Hike Milk Support

Proposed Increase to $3.50 Insufficient

For Dairy Plant Needs, Says Congressman

BY RICHARD P. POWERS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., predicted today that Secretary of Agriculture Orville E. Freeman will announce an increase in milk price supports to $3.50 a hundred pounds of butterfat.

However, Laird told a reporter, the proposed increase in the support level for milk for manufactured products is not high enough and will not ensure an adequate supply of milk for Wisconsin dairy plants in the new marketing year starting April 1.

The current price support for milk with 3.7 pounds of butterfat is $3.24 a hundred pounds, or 75 per cent of parity, the minimum under the law. Changes in the parity equivalent for the new year, he said, would require a minimum of $3.31 a hundred pounds.

Go to Maximum

Laird said sources in the Agriculture Department informed him that Freeman intends to set the new support price at $3.50 for milk with 3.7 pounds of butterfat.

In order to insure an adequate supply of milk, Laird said, Freeman should go to the maximum allowed by law.

The secretary has the tools, the authority and the legal responsibility to announce a price of at least $3.75 and a good case can be made for $4 milk supports during the new marketing year," Laird said.

"To go from the required $3.31 to only $3.50 for milk with a butterfat content of 3.7 pounds will not insure the supply of milk needed."

Market Prices

It must be remembered that Wisconsin and other dairy producing states pay prices based on 3.5 pounds per hundredweight and market prices are already well above the $3.50 for milk with 3.7 pounds of butterfat per hundredweight in the proposed announcement.

"The $3.50 in the proposed announcement would not affect the current market price of cheese or butter as the market is substantially above the level now."

The growing shortage of milk in this country, Laird said.

German President on Tour of African Nations

BOON, Germany (AP) — West German President Heinrich Lübke took off today on a goodwill tour of six African nations to counter diplomatic inroads made by Communist East Germany.

should not be allowed to continue without first exhausting the means the department has at its disposal under existing legislation to ease the problem.

Three Causes

Laird said there are three basic causes for the growing shortage of milk in the United States:

1. Many farmers are leaving dairying because of the growing difficulties that a continuing cost-price squeeze presents.

2. The high competitive milk prices that are now in effect are damaging the financial condition of many dairy plants.

3. The severe culling of dairy cows in some areas because of weather conditions and their effect on feed.

Last October, he said, milk production in this country had dropped from the previous year by 3.1 per cent, by November it had gone down by 3.6 per cent, in December it was down 5.1 per cent and in January of this year it was down 5.3 per cent below the figure for the corresponding month of 1965.

MAG 36 Home For Helicopter Airlift Pilots

Fliers Daily Face
Viet Cong Fire to Evacuate Wounded

By GEORGE ESPER
JOHNSON CITY, South Viet Nam (AP) — You won't find it on a map but a wooden sign attached to a makeshift control tower says:

"Johnson City International.
Elevation 40 feet. MAG 36."

MAG 36 is Marine Air Group
36, a bunch of helicopter pilots.
Daily they face Viet Cong bullets to lift troops and supplies to the front lines and to evacuate the wounded. They take part in many other missions too.

Johnson City became a reality when thousands of Marine infantrymen made an amphibious assault south of Quang Ngai
City and established a beachhead off the South China Sea in support of Operation Double Eagle.

Johnson City actually is the headquarters for the task force, but the hub of activity is a strip of sand 3,600 feet long and 1,000 feet wide. That's where 75 helicopters supporting the operation work from — blowing up a sand storm when they take off or land.

Col. Johnson

The strip of sand is named after Col. William G. Johnson, 45, commander of MAG 36. A mile off the beach, just east of Johnson City, is a place the Marines named Tyler. You won't find that on a South Viet Nam map, either. But you will find it on a Texas map since it happens to be Johnson's home town.

The Marine aviators have designated air routes named after states and checkpoints named after American cities.
They fly on these routes to avoid getting in the way of friendly artillery fire or jet air attacks.

MAG 36's permanent base is at Ky Ha, about 45 miles north of Johnson City.

During the first week of its operation, around 21 helicopters were hit by enemy ground fire,
Johnson said.

"Very Lucky"
"We've had two shot down and we've recovered them both," he added. "I've had no men seriously wounded. I've been very lucky."

A typical example of the perils the helicopters face is a mission involving Capt. Russell
Randall, 27, of San Francisco;
his crew chief, Sgt. Marvin N.
Treadway of Evanson, Wyo., and the machine gunner, Cpl.
Graden M. Thompson of Waycross, Ga.

"We saw a man get hit on our approach to the landing zone to retract some troops," Randall recalled. "We knew the zone was under fire before we started in. We were about 50 feet from the man who got hit. You could see him lying there."

Under Fire

"I pointed him out to the crew chief and asked him if he could get him back to the aircraft.
Treadway and Thompson went out to him under fire and determined a stretcher would be needed. Thompson came back for the stretcher while Treadway administered first aid.
"They crawled back with the stretcher between them. Rounds were hitting around the aircraft, but none hit it."

The pilots and crew members put in long hours, starting at dawn and finishing up well after dark. During the first 11 days of Operation Double Eagle, they flew 525 missions and 7,634 sorties. They carried 9,952 troops and 364 tons of cargo.

A Second 'U' Campus at Madison

The proposal of the administration of the University of Wisconsin that a second Madison campus should be built on university-owned land on the west side of the city has run into strong opposition from a number of legislators from both parties. And it certainly raises again a number of questions about an overall master plan for the development of higher education in the state.

There has been considerable concern expressed by both faculty and administration of the University and by legislators over the question of how many students can or should be accommodated on the present campus at Madison. A round figure of 40,000 has been suggested by several sources as a practical limit.

But granting that a limit should be set on the size of the downtown campus, the question of where additional students in the University system should be accommodated is a separate and distinct one.

The new universities to be built in northeastern and southeastern Wisconsin are designed to relieve the enrollment load at the university campuses in Madison and Milwaukee as well as at the two largest state universities at Oshkosh and Whitewater. Assemblyman Glen Pommerening who is chairman of the committee selecting sites for those campuses, declared that when the enrollment at Madison reaches 40,000 additional students should be taken care of at the two new schools plus the nine state universities. "We'll just have to face the realization that not everybody who wants to go to school in Madison will be able to do so," he said.

The idea has been expressed in the past that the Madison campus of the University will specialize more and more in graduate work, particularly at the doctorate and post-doctorate level. And while an undergraduate school should always be maintained there, less emphasis would be placed on this level at Madison. Undergraduate opportunities would under this theory be spread more widely throughout the state, at both two-year and four-year campuses. The University branch at Milwaukee and the state universities will also probably have to expand their graduate work leading to the masters degree to help relieve the load on Madison.

This is the first time that a second campus at Madison has been injected into this picture. And certainly no action toward such a project should be taken until the master plan Pommerening has been demanding is finalized.

Will Pacification Work?

While we are inclined to discount the optimism about improving the living conditions of the South Vietnamese in order to combat the lure of communism as expressed by President Johnson, Vice President Humphrey and Secretary of Agriculture Freeman certainly the efforts, if long overdue, are worthwhile. But we must not expect too much too soon partly because Viet Nam is a nation embroiled in a vicious guerrilla war and secondly because the immediate aims are modest—or realistic—indeed.

The "pacification" plan is aimed primarily at luring away from the Viet Cong people in rural areas not now secure as far as the South Vietnamese government is concerned. We hold the major cities but something like 80 per cent of the area of South Viet Nam is either actually under direct control of the Viet Cong or definitely not protected against it, either militarily or politically. Estimates on the population control differ according to who is doing the estimating. The South Vietnamese government claims 52 per cent of the people but obviously this is impossible to prove.

The plan involves at first only four relatively small areas, some 14 per cent of the population and a target of 75 per cent of the areas and population outlined. The areas are small hamlets around Da Nang, Quihon on the coast, Saigon and An Giang province. It should be realized that the government at present is secure in only tightly controlled places.

Teams of eighty Vietnamese specially trained in military security, propaganda, political and economic indoctrination and within this larger team, an eleven man key group, are to do the pacification. This is to include a questioning of everyone in every village, finding out the grievances and trying to solve them and then encouraging informing on Viet Cong members or activities. It will also include finding out who is related to Viet Cong members, joining four to eight homes together as a unit with a head, the organization of practically everyone into youth, women's or farmers' groups and the encouragement of good local hamlet government. Teams will be armed and be expected to fight if necessary.

A major strength of the Viet Cong is that they have what appears to be considerable influence in many of the hamlets for one reason or another. The years of inept government and lack of contact between Saigon and the jungle villagers, relatives and friends among the Viet Cong and organized terrorism against able village leaders and their relatives have all contributed to the influence. It does seem strange that pacification schemes were not inaugurated long ago by the government of South Viet Nam and its American advisors. There was a several years' attempt to create fortified hamlets but they obviously failed. Whether the new plan, even on the extremely modest scale, can succeed, even when accompanied by military victories by South Vietnamese and American troops, is certainly questionable.

But, as General Maxwell Taylor pointed out in his testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the American strategy now is to keep on doing what we've been doing this last year only more effectively. Certainly pacification of areas taken by military strength must be achieved unless ever larger numbers of American troops are going to be needed to hold the areas captured. But let no one think it can be done quickly even if there is relative success in the plan.

how they themselves have flaunted the rules. "The middle class youngster is confronted with parental pressures for conformity to socially approved codes of conduct while being supplied with permission to chart a course of evasion." Epstein pointed to the youths who hear their fathers brag about shady business deals, about how a traffic ticket was bought off, or some other aspect of law and order evaded. In all of the families studied, the income was between $10,000 and $30,000 a year. And clearly some of the delinquencies were expressions of anger at society in general. "How can you be mad at a man who gives you a car and a TV set, but doesn't give you guidance, decency or honesty?"

There is a need for a hero in the lives of most boys and the most obvious subject for respect if not hero worship should be the boy's father. But there is bound to be conflict and a sense of being let down when the father preaches responsibility and community respect and then gloats over getting away with something on his income tax return.

Putting Viet Nam War Before U. N. Has Had Advantages for U. S.

BY MAX FREEDMAN

UNITED NATIONS—Mr. Justice Arthur Goldberg did not leave the Supreme Court because he was bored or ambitious. He left for only one reason at which the cynical may scoff but which to him was compelling and unanswerable.

Freedman

The President persuaded him that the country was in trouble and that he could help it by pleading America's cause at the United Nations. That was enough for him. The fact that Ambassador Goldberg could respond to this kind of appeal with an almost instinctive patriotism helps to explain the President's deep regard for him.

What does Ambassador Goldberg think the United Nations can do to end the war in Viet Nam?

With the President's approval, he has made it his constant purpose, since coming to the United Nations to seek "an honorable negotiated settlement," even while the fighting is going on and is getting worse.

MEMO TO LBJ

Before the decision to resume the bombing of North Viet Nam was made, Ambassador Goldberg wrote a memorandum to the President, in which Mr. Rusk joined, giving reasons why the issues in Viet Nam should be raised at the Security Council.

Every argument against this course of action was foreseen by Ambassador Goldberg and was discussed in his memorandum. He foresaw that the United Nations might be unable or unwilling to do anything about this proposal. He foresaw that Russia would have to take a hard line, if only to meet China's criticism that Russia is working in an informal alliance with the United States. He foresaw that North Viet Nam would refuse to recognize the jurisdiction of the United Nations.

Why, then, did he press this course of action for the President's approval? For two essential reasons.

In the first place, he wanted to dispose of the criticism that the United States was ignoring business; Mrs. J. G. Ringleb, Golden Agers chairman; C. M. Riley, Civic Executive Board chairman; and Mrs. C. W. Erdman, executive secretary.

Mrs. Carl Wiese was chairman of the World Day of Prayer sponsored by the Appleton unit of United Church Women. She was assisted by Mrs. Otis Graves and Mrs. W. Layton Meisle, president of the Appleton group.

Edwin Zordel, director of the senior choir of First English Lutheran Church, was honored at a birthday party the previous week at the church.

the United Nations and was not in fact exploring every way to peace. He persuaded the President that a renewed emphasis on peaceful negotiations would not interfere with the conduct of the war but would alone make the resumed bombing tolerable to world opinion.

Secondly, and far more important, the campaign at the United Nations has enlisted the responsible interest of many countries, both on and off the Security Council, in seeking an honorable alternative to a prolonged war. Until now these nations had been detached critics, content to criticize the United States, but having no sense of intellectual or moral involvement. Now they are being asked by Ambassador Goldberg and by ec. Gen. Thant to make their own suggestions for peace.

This intense diplomatic activity embraces every regional grouping at the United Nations, including the members of NATO and Asia and Africa. All that need be said now is that even the Communist members of the United Nations have not stood aloof from this activity.

In the most practical terms, this diplomatic campaign has already had the most important results for the United States. It has resulted in having the United States enter into virtual commitments for a peace settlement. These commitments include the acceptance of the 1954 Geneva Treaty as a basis for a final settlement; the acceptance of the principle that there is no insurmountable obstacle to including the Viet Cong in the negotiations; the acceptance of free elections in a unified Viet Nam; the acceptance by the United States that there must be no foreign garrisons or bases in South Viet Nam.

UNHAPPY WITH KY

The British government is not alone in holding the United States to these commitments as solemn obligations of policy.

Without these commitments the United States would be under stern criticism from governments that now are silent.

It is breaking no diplomatic secret to observe that the Johnson administration is unhappy about South Viet Nam's announced refusal to negotiate at all with the Viet Cong in the future.

A decent interval must elapse before the record can be set straight on this vital point.

It is enough to emphasize now that the United States is in no way the prisoner of South Viet Nam's declarations.

The dominant commitment of the United States is to an "honorable" settlement. If South Viet Nam bars the way to such a settlement, the United States is free to review its commitments and chart its course afresh. This basic point is already being grasped in Saigon and its meaning will be more fully understood as the weeks pass.

Potomac Fever — by Jack Wilson

Now LBJ wants to increase production of some kinds of grain. It's an entirely new approach — pay the farmer for not plowing his crops under.

Freeman says it was silly of South Viet Nam to draft its farm research chief in the army. Maybe—but you notice they don't have a great big farm surplus to worry about.

Mr. Johnson apparently has been trying in vain to get in touch with Hanoi. It's sad — a multi-millionaire whose notes don't draw any interest.

Taylor Writes

Air Transport Units Deactivated in 1965 Now Fly to Viet Nam

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

On December 8, 1965, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara officially deactivated 19 phase out to a shut-down New York State's 106th Air Transport Group and other Air National Guard reserves. He said they wouldn't be needed. In less than 30 days — bongo — he found he couldn't do without them. . . but who would know it?

Taylor

When Mr. McNamara announced that he would close many Army, Navy and Air Force facilities his image soared, and rightly, as a courageous economizer. But he also announced it wasn't necessary to "mobilize the reserves," a politically unpopular prospect.

You could hardly find a better example of what's widely called Washington's manipulated news. Nor a better example of how, as this column has repeatedly contended, Mr. McNamara's judgment in the largest matters apparently vanishes like a pricked balloon.

The blunt December 8th deactivation order had hardly hit the states' Guards flyers and personnel — and their morale — before some other creaking cog in the McNamara computer sent them winging off to Viet Nam. GOT HEAVE-HO

Behind the scene, the same units that got the mighty McNamara heave-ho in December he now calls on for "maximum effort," and the size of the switch has been kept completely from the public.

Consider the airlift group based at Westchester County Airport, White Plains, N. Y. This is one of 25 such Air National Guard transport organizations in 17 states.

Mr. McNamara still says it is not necessary to mobilize these reserves. Well, what do you call mobilization?

A legal issue doesn't arise. Few do. Washington operates mostly on innuendo, prestige, interpretations. LBJ eulogizes Mr. McNamara, and surely the eulogies are sincere. In addition, it must not appear that a man of bad judgment is in charge of the Viet Nam War. With such Presidential support legalities aren't questioned too much. Actually, Mr. McNamara has left vacant the post of Defense Department general counsel for 15 months.

Today Mr. McNamara orders the Air National Guard units every day to Viet Nam. The flyers and crews (some pilots are as old as 47 and all are volunteers) are taken from their industrial and other jobs. They make the round trip in eight to 10 days.

These unmobilized land their C-97 or C-121 airlift planes at Travis, Norton and other West Coast bases. Hawaii, Guam, Kwajalein, the Philippines, etc., and proceed to a fast four-hour turnaround at Saigon. They go to Manila for a 24-hour rest, which has now been cut to less than 12.

Quite a rest. They're in flight for 100 hours to get to Viet Nam and back — 21,000 nautical miles.

These reserves are carrying high-priority, bottleneck supplies to our forces — engines, electronic gear, special ammunition and emergency items to fill shortages. They return with mountains of things to be repaired here and the McNamara pressure mounts all the time. But, oh, no, they're not mobilized.

The Pentagon sent the units during December alone on 78 trips to Viet Nam for "Operation Christmas Star." And last month they were ordered out, halfway around the world, 77 times.

NO END IN SIGHT

Now Mr. McNamara has (quietly) notified the commanders that the units given the mighty heave-ho so shortly ago are to perform these flights at this rate, or higher, from here on out and with no end in sight. Simultaneously Mr. McNamara notified the commanders in a classic piece of public relations gobbledegook that this is all to be without mobilization.

In short, as in so many large matters, as distinguished from the small, the record shows Mr. McNamara dead wrong, successively wrong and wrong on all sides of the Viet Nam situation and on the Air National Guard as well.

Moreover, the December 8 deactivation had curious undertones. It applied, for example, to the 106th Group, to which the Defense Department itself gives the highest available rating. It did not apply, nevertheless, to the low-rated Cheyenne, Wyoming, base where two bases in that state are kept open because volunteer response is so low that both have to tap the area. Meanwhile, both bases are defined as "not mobilized." But their personnel is sent to Viet Nam just the same.

Big Revolutions Are Social, Economic

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

The important revolutions aren't always the ones that make the most noise, nor are they usually political in nature. For political revolutions occur only after social and economic conditions have packed the powder and lit the fuse.

Harris

We are facing the third revolution in America in the 20th Century. The first two were hardly noticed, except by specialists, but the third one, coming up, will most likely blow the lid right off the pot.

The first revolution was the move from the farm to the factory, beginning around 1900. Agricultural productivity began to become so efficient that fewer farmers could produce more, and rural workers migrated by the tens of thousands into the factories.

The second revolution was the move from the factories to the offices and service trades. Here, likewise, industrial productivity became so efficient that fewer workers could produce more. In the 1950s, for the first time in our history, the number of white-collar employees passed the number of blue-collar workers.

When farming declined as a source of employment, industry took up the slack.

Now the third revolution is nearly upon us — for the new technology of automation and cybernetics is threatening the most recent group of employment skills, not only for clerical people but for middle management men as well.

What Robert Heilbroner, the economist, calls "the sorting, filing, checking, calculating, remembering, comparing, okaying skills" are going to be in short demand when automation takes over, as it is already doing in many banks, insurance companies and engineering firms.

Moreover, the routine jobs now being done by middle management — decisions about balancing inventories against sales, scheduling production, and working out transportation mixes for delivery products — all these will be done better, faster and cheaper by machines.

What then will take up the slack? Where will we find a new expansive group of employments that will provide the same absorptive cushion that the factories gave to dwindling farm jobs, and the offices gave to dwindling factory jobs?

As Heilbroner suggests, if we can't find these new groups of employment in the private sector, then the government will surely take up the slack, in jobs for urban renewal, social welfare, beautification, and so on. This third revolution will be the one that sets the fuse off.

Site of Ancient Temples Moved For New Dam

Ramses, Nefertari Will Watch Sunrise High Above Nile

By ALY MAHMOUD
ABU SIMBEL, Egypt (AP)—The colossal temples of Abu Simbel have been hewn from their ancient home and the front of Abu Simbel Mountain looks newly shaven.
For 32 centuries the statues of Ramses II, his queen Nefertari and an assortment of gods and sacred birds looked upon sunrise across the Nile. Then they had to be moved to escape rising waters due to the building of the Aswan Dam. Salvage experts cut the twin temples into 950 chunks, weighing 20 to 30 tons each. When cutting started last year, a few explosives charges were used to remove the upper part of the mountain topping the temples. Then, with electrically guided saws, chisels and other tools, Italian experts Ramses' fondness for dismembering his war captives. Today what was termed the greatest of the swashbuckling Ramses, the archeological surgery in his beautiful Nefertari, the arrogant sun god Amon-Ra and the god Ptah are strewn about the ground, dismembered and helpless. The baffling smirk on Ramses' face is still there.

Man-Made Lake
In 1958 the Egyptian government announced it was going ahead with building the Aswan Dam which would create behind it the largest man-made lake in the world. Annual floods of the Nile threatened to submerge the entire Nubian desert and inundate the towering temples of Abu Simbel along with 26 other temples, churches and sanctuaries.
UNESCO—the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization—launched a "now or never" campaign urging nations of the world to rescue the Nubian monuments. The United States and Egypt are bearing most of the $36 million cost. Serious work began three years ago with a thorough excavation of the two temples. A cofferdam was built to shield the temples. The Nile flooded the temples twice, but work went smoothly behind the temporary dam. When cutting started last year, a few explosives charges were used to remove the upper part of the mountain topping the temples. Then, with electrically guided saws, chisels and other tools, Italian experts Ramses' fondness for dismembering his war captives. Today what was termed the greatest of the swashbuckling Ramses, the archeological surgery in his beautiful Nefertari, the arrogant sun god Amon-Ra and the

in August, but by then the whole operation will have been shifted to the temples' new site, above the reach of the waters.
Already several walls of the king's temples are rebuilt. An official ceremony was held to mark the start in reassembling the big temples. Egypt's tourism minister, Aziz Yassin, guided huge cranes placing in position statues of four gods: Ptah, the sun god Amon-Ra, King Ramses II (he defied himself before his death), and Nubia's god Re-Horachti. Beneath the four statues Yassin placed four copies of the Koran, four copies of the Egyptian National Charter, and several coins representing the five nations doing the salvage work—France, Italy, Sweden, West Germany and Egypt.
Little restoration work is planned. The scars caused by dismantling will remain, "for they are inescapably an important highlight in the history of the two temples," says the project manager, Carl Theodor Mackel of West Germany.
The 1,500 Egyptian and European workers and engineers on the project are housed in a small colony and hundreds of tents near the temples' new site. There are a small airfield, a club and a swimming pool. A hotel and a tourist bazaar will also be built, Mackel said.
When the two temples get their new home, Mackel added, they will continue to stand majestically on the Nile, facing east.

13 Convicted Of Attempt On De Gaulle

PARIS (AP) — A special state security court Saturday night convicted 13 persons — five of them in absentia — of having plotted to assassinate President Charles de Gaulle in August 1964, while De Gaulle was on a trip in southern France.

Two of the 15 defendants were acquitted.

Three of the missing defendants, believed to be living in exile in Spain or Switzerland, were sentenced to death. These included Jean-Jacques Susini, onetime leader of right-wing Europeans in Algeria, who opposed Algerian independence, and Samuel Lehman, a former member of the French Foreign Legion.

The other death sentence pronounced in absentia was against Andre Rosfelder. Toussaint Luciani was sentenced in absentia to 15 years imprisonment, while Gerard Felix was given a three-year suspended sentence in absentia.

Under French law a person sentenced in absentia is automatically granted a new trial if he ever is apprehended.

All 15 were accused of having plotted to kill De Gaulle with an explosive charge placed in a flower pot outside a war museum near Toulon which De Gaulle was inspecting on Aug. 15, 1964. This was the 20th anniversary of the Allied landings in southern France.

What a Year! Will You Ever Forget It?

You Will Unless You Have 'The World in 1965'

THE WORLD IN 1965
HISTORY AS IT UNFOLDED

THE WORLD IN 1965 is a handsome, 288-page, dramatically illustrated and brilliantly written account of the year just past, prepared for readers of this and other member newspapers by The Associated Press, world's foremost news service.

With its in-depth articles and striking news pictures, in color and black and white, it brings to vivid life the great events, the climactic moments, and the things you would like to remember about a great news year.

How well, for instance, do you recall the details of such matters as these—

- The way Viet Nam's brush fire blazed up.
- The walk in space.
- President Johnson's push for the Great Society.
- Uncle Sam's role in the Dominican revolt.
- The student marches for free speech and peace.
- The Pope's visit to the New World.
- How Sukarno lost his grip in Indonesia.

These and hundreds of other events great and small are yours for all time in this magnificent book of living history. Only The Associated Press, with which this newspaper is teamed in reporting the news of the world, could have put together such a volume. It will be indispensable now and in all the years to come to students, teachers, and to everyone with an intelligent interest in what is going on in the world.

An $5 value, it is offered to readers of this newspaper for only $3. The books will be available in February. To reserve your copy, fill out and mail the coupon at once.
